RED BOMBS FIRE SWEDISH TOWN; 3000 IN PANIC

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 21 (AP)—Seven Russian bombing planes today showered between 30 and 40 bombs on the Swedish frontier village of Pajala, setting many buildings afire but causing no casualties, dispatches from the border region reported.

Four buildings in Pajala, a village of 3000 inhabitants five miles from the Finnish frontier, were destroyed and others set afire by the raiders, who descended to 3000 feet before unloading their bomb cargo.

The Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet said half the town was burning.

The terrified inhabitants had brief warning of the approaching planes from the village of Kengis, which is closer to the frontier. Thus most residents were able to find refuge. Many fled to the fields, others crouched in their homes. Several bombs fell within 100 feet of the Pajala church, where some villagers were huddled.

When the attack ended the Soviet planes followed the frontier about 20 miles before disappearing over Finland. Pajala is on the Tornea river, near the Swedish-Finish border, about 100miles north of Haparanda.

800 PLANES RAID

111 RESCUED AS LINER SINKS NEAR JAPAN

HELSINKI, Feb. 21 (AP)—Approximately 800 Soviet Russian warplanes dropped an almost continuous hail of explosives on beleaguered Finland late yesterday and early today in the largest mass bombing attack in aviation history.

Apparently attempting a knockout blow from the skies, the Soviet aerial armada ranged southern and central Finland through the night and into the early morning hours, sending bombs crashing on cities, railways and roads.

Germany made the World War's largest bombing raid with more than 350 planes over the American sector on the western front the night of Oct. 9, 1918.

In the Spanish civil war, the Chinese-Japanese conflict and Germany's invasion of Poland, the number of planes raiding in a single day did not approach the 800 estimated for the Russians today and yesterday.

Seven air raid alarms sounded in Helsinki alone, although no bombs were dropped on the capital.

TEN KILLED, 20 WOUNDED

Thus far 10 persons have been killed and 20 hurt in attacks on at least 30 communities.

A Finnish announcement said that although many bombs were dropped damage was relatively slight. It said that probably 1000 bombs fell in the town of Riihimaki and the surrounding area alone.

The semi-official Finnish news agency denied a Russian army communique saying the Reds had captured the Finnish coastal fortress of Koivisto, western anchor of the Mannerheim line on the Karelian isthmus.

The agency said Koivisto was still in Finnish hands and intact despite unrelenting Russian attacks.

First reports told of 11 alarms at Lahti, where several homes were destroyed. Numerous fires were started at Hyvinkaeae, 30 miles from Helsinki.

TRAINS BOMBED

Two trains were bombed and machine-gunned, Finnish sources reported.

More than 100 planes were counted in the air over Masala, Helsinki suburb. Heinola and Hanko were attacked, but the bombs have missed their marks, falling outside city limits.

MYSTERY SHROUDS SECRET BURIAL OF BELMONT HERO

New mystery today surrounded the "padded cell" death and allegedly irregular burial of Edward J. Kelley, 36-year-old Billerica House of Correction inmate and former Carnegie hero medal winner.

Vital organs removed from Kelley's body in an autopsy performed without the knowledge of Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford are still being studied by Dr. Alan R. Moritz, professor of legal medicine at Harvard and official pathologist of the State Department of Public Safety.

Yet it was revealed today that a permit for Kelley's burial was quietly issued at Billerica without the filing of a death certificate and without knowledge of town clerks of either Billerica, where the burial took place, or of Belmont, where Kelley, "wayward son" of a highly respected Greater Boston family, made his home.

SURPRISE OVER PERMIT

Town Clerk Roland G. Wright of Billerica said today:

"No death certificate was ever filed with my office in the Kelley case. I don't see how a burial permit could be issued."

Town Clerk Arthur E. Hough of Belmont also said no death certificate had been filed, and he agreed that issuance of a burial permit would be "highly unusual."

However, at the drugstore-office of Edward Woodside, Billerica pharmacist and executive secretary of the Billerica Board of Health, a woman clerk said Woodside signed the Kelley burial permit, although she had no record of the undertaker to whom it was issued.

Board of Health Secretary Woodside, himself, was reported home sick with a heart attack and unable to answer the telephone.

OFFICIALS KEEP SILENCE

Meantime, Billerica House of Correction officials continued to refuse to discuss the Kelley case and also continued to veil in all possible secrecy events leading up to the 10-hour "padded cell" confinement that ended in the Belmont man's agonized death.

Middlesex County Sheriff Joseph M. McElroy admitted today he had been informed Kelley had the "screaming horrors" in the cell.

The sheriff denied, however, that House of Correction officials had knowledge of Kelley's alleged drinking of denatured alcohol and his reported drunkenness on two successive days before he was finally taken from his dormitory cot and thrown into the "hole" (the padded cell) where he later died without medical attention.

"I understood Kelley had the 'dry horrors,'" Sheriff McElroy said. "That's a condition that sometimes comes on habitual drinkers after they've been sober for weeks.

"They usually get over it all right and suffer no permanent ill effects."

The sheriff's statement was scoffed at, however, by Kelley's relatives and friends.

They pointed out that Kelley had served all but a fortnight of a six months' sentence for drunkenness and that he had long since recovered from the spree that caused his commitment.

SAW HIM DRUNK

Former Billerica House of Correction mates, who were in the institution and in close personal contact with Kelley on the two days before he was thrown into the padded cell, were unanimous today in saying he was staggering drunk on denatured alcohol kept for use as anti-freeze in a dairy farm truck.

"He was drunk Friday night and drunk again Saturday morning, Feb. 10," one such witness

RECALL REDS FROM TURKEY

ISTANBUL, Feb. 21 (AP)—Hundreds of Russian technical experts employed in Turkish industry for many years under a Turkish-Russian agreement were ordered by the Moscow government today in return to Russia immediately.

The Russians are expected to embark on Russian ships with their families for Odessa, Russian Black sea port.

The action follows the gradual liquidation by Russia of its commercial organizations in Turkey.

The Turkish press recently has discussed possibility of war this spring in the Near East, with Russia's Caucasian oil fields a possible center of activity.

German technical experts employed here in national defense industries recently were sent home by Turkey, and the German-owned Krupp shipyards here were occupied by Turkish marines.

Turkey, a non-belligerent ally of Britain and France, has been cooperating with the British and French Near Eastern armies in planning a defense of this vital "back door" to Europe.

British Planes Over Helgoland

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The air ministry announced today that British warplanes carried out a successful reconnaissance flight over Helgoland bight, off Germany's northwest coast, last night.

The Berlin communique previously had reported a flight of "several enemy planes from the west and northwest" over the bight, which contains the naval base of Helgoland and heavily fortified islands near the coast.

Only meager details of yesterday's widespread German air raids on Britain's eastern coast waters were available today.

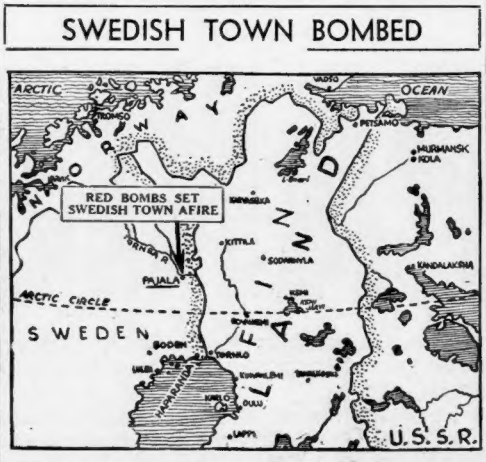
SWEDISH TOWN BOMBED



RED PLANES SHELL PAJALA—Marking the first violation of Swedish soil by Russian forces since the Finn-Red war began, the town of Pajala, in northern Sweden, today was bombed by Soviet planes. Reports said 20 incendiary bombs were dropped, setting fire to half the town.

4 Die in New Storm, Cold Snap to Follow

With four more lives claimed in the new storm, bringing the total to seven and the complete toll since the Valentine's Day storm to 39, Boston and New England today were given hope of a breathing spell.

Boston Evening American Photo

OOPS!—Step high and wide, young lady . . . King Winter's set up a little slush problem in your path. This was a familiar scene in Boston yesterday and early today, but weather man says cold wave may turn slush to ice.

As an army of workers continued to battle snow and slush-clogged roads, the weather bureau said clouds would break tonight and that the holiday tomorrow would be fair, with lower temperatures.

Warning of ice-covered roads accompanied the weather forecast, for the mercury tonight is expected to drop into the lower 20s.

AUTO IS WRECKED

Two occupants of the car, who had abandoned it when it became bogged down in snow-covered slush on the rails, stood helplessly by and saw the new sedan crushed by the train and the wreckage carried down the tracks in the driving storm.

Prescott Whitman, 43, of Cottage st., Hingham, was driving the car, with Robert Appleton, 30, of Tulane rd., Kenmore, N. Y., as passenger, both bound for Boston.

When they were unable to move the trapped car from the rails, Appleton went in a fruitless search for help at a neighboring house.

He returned just as Whitman was compelled to leave the machine on the approach of the freight.

TRAIN DELAYED

The two men rode the rest of the way to Boston in the caboose of the freight train, but not until four Boston-bound passenger trains had been delayed by the wreck.

Because of the storm and a 40-mile gale whipping the seas, shipping moved slowly, with many vessels prefering to remain in port until a break in the weather.

Two vessels, however, arrived in Boston on schedule—the Yarmouth from Nova Scotia and the St. John from New York.

The Merchants & Miners freight and passenger steamers Howard, from Norfolk, Va., and Wyoming, from Philadelyhia, both due today informed the Boston office that each would be about five hours late.

Tavern Heads Link Timiltys in Suit

Affidavits from owners of taverns, restaurants and entertainment places in which goodwill of police is an asset are the basis of a suit against Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty and his brother, Walter H., a laundry owner, it was revealed today.

The affidavits were obtained by representatives of 60 laundry concerns who charge Walter Timilty, because his brother was police commissioner, and with the aid of Boston police officials intimidated businessmen so that they gave him their laundry business.

High police officials will be named when the suit, brought by Thomas C. and George L. Stretch, laundry operators, against the two Timiltys is heard in superior court.

The Stretch brothers charge their business is in danger of being ruined because of Walter Timilty's intimidation of concerns, and the transfer of their business to him.

PROBED BY GOVERNOR

It was also learned that State detectives, acting on orders from Governor Saltonstall, secretly investigated charges brought by two laundry associations against Walter Timilty, doing business under the name of Elk Towel and Apron Supply Co.

Working under Capt. John F. Stokes, state detectives questioned scores of Boston businessmen, whom the laundry associations charged had transferred their business to the Timilty concern under coercion.

Unknown to Boston police the state detectives carried on their LONESOME—His mistress, Mrs. Marion Weston, dead from gas inhalation, Zippy, pet terrier of the 81-year-old woman, today faced life alone. He was found by police at side of the woman's body in gas-filled Roxbury home.

Pet Dog Keeps Vigil Over Dead Mistress

Three policemen trudged through snow and slush to a Roxbury flat and pounded on the rear door. Neighbors in Codman pk. peered through windows.

They were worried about the little old lady, for she had not been seen for the past four days during the excitement of the storm.

Mrs. Marion Weston had been pretty much forgotten by the neighbors in those four days, but for her the loneliness of a drab life had extended much longer—nearly a quarter century. She was 81.

Her husband in life had been an artist, but the gay rounds of entertainment and life among creative workers had ended for her with his death.

DOG GUARDS BODY

The policemen hurled themselves against the door, then fell back as gas fumes enveloped them.

Hastily they ran into the kitchen and opened windows, then turned off two jets on the kitchen stove.

Death was everywhere in the flat, but the one life that had brought happiness to the little old lady now fought for its own existence.

Only a few feet from her cold body lay the dog, whimpering as he gazed from his mistress to the strangers in blue.

The dog lived, thanks to the timely arrival of police. At first groggy, he revived with the returning fresh air and in a few moments stood erect but perplexed in the little kitchen.

WHO WANTS PET?

The routine accompanying a sudden death now held the interest of the three policemen. A neighborhood doctor was summoned and officially pronounced her dead; an ambulance arrived to take the corpse to the morgue for an official finding of the cause of death.

Forgotten for the moment stood the dog, its own life of quiet companionship now cheated of the one life that mattered.

With the body removed and the flat locked up, the last policeman reached down and gathered the little poodle into his arms. He was taken to the Dudley st. police station and today will be sent to the Animal Rescue League in Carver st., South End.

He can be had for the asking if some other lonely recluse wants the companionship of man's—and woman's—best friend.

HELEN VINSON SUES FRED PERRY

FRED PERRY AND HELEN VINSON

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (AP)—Film Actress Helen Vinson has sued Fred Perry, former world singles tennis champion, for divorce, charging "cruel and inhuman" treatment.

It was her second suit. The first was filed March 15, 1939, but she had it dismissed a short time later, saying they had decided to renew their "perfect romance."

The couple was married just before midnight, Sept. 12, 1935, in Harrison, N. Y., and after a hamburger and champagne supper, Miss Vinson declared the union would be a success because:

"I am an American woman and I exercise my prerogative to be independent."

BOY'S CONDITION CRITICAL

BURLINGTON, Feb. 21—David Wolcott, 12, swallowed a tie pin, but did not tell his parents until 24 hours later, when his condition was dangerous. An immediate operation was conducted, but the boy was in a critical condition today.

LOUISIANA VOTERS CRUSH LONG'S RULE

Sam Jones Defeats Brother of Kingfish

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Huey P. Long political dynasty, born of 12 years of dictatorial violence, died by ballot after one of the longest and bitterest election campaigns in Louisiana's history.

Voters in the Democratic gubernatorial runoff primary swept to defeat Gov. Earl K. Long, brother of the "Kingfish" and titular leader of the machine, and nominated Atty. Sam Jones of Lake Charles to the office.

Jones, a newcomer to politics, pledged himself to restore Democracy to Louisiana, regain much of the millions of dollars he said administration office holders stole from the state, and jail those found guilty of graft and corruption.

TAKES OFFICE MAY 14

The machine rout appeared complete with Jones' slate of secondary state officers, engaged in the run-off, going in without a break, together with a new anti-machine legislature, and possibly an anti-machine state central committee.

Unofficial returns from 1461 of the state's 1703 precincts gave Jones 254,589 votes and Long 234,274, a lead of 20,415 votes for Jones.

Nomination in overwhelmingly Democratic Louisiana is tantamount to election. Jones will take office May 14.

It was the first time since 1928, when Huey himself was elected governor, that the Long administration had been whipped.

The martial air, characteristic of the Long rule, prevailed as the governor kept the state's 3500 National Guardsmen poised for duty but, aside from several fist fights, there were few disturbances.

LONG STILL HOPES

Jones early today accepted the victory plaudits of his supporters with the advice that the "job is not yet done."

In a radio address he said:

"Permit me to thank you for the magnificent support you have given me. Last minute returns with approximately 400,000 votes cast, indicate I've been elected governor."

Long said at the executive mansion in Baton Rouge he still believed complete returns would show him the victor. Mayor Robert S. Maestri, boss of New Orleans politics, who delivered a good majority for Long in this city, said he still felt Long would be nominated.

Resume Trial Of Patrolman

Former Police Officer Paul A. Petzold, who has pleaded guilty to the robbery attempt and is a government witness in the current trial, told Judge Harold P. Williams of events before the break.

Petzold testified that he had asked Brauneis before an attempt was made to force the store door "if he would stay near the place while we were working on it, and he said, yes, he'd stay as near as possible."

Also being tried with Brauneis are Albert Abrams, 42, of Nichols st., Chelsea; William Gillar, 43, of Addison st., Chelsea; Jacob Dana, a locksmith of Gleason st., Roxbury, and Michael Saggesse, 48, of White st., East Boston.

Halt Funeral To Kill Slayer

TORREON, Coahuila, Mexico, Feb. 21 (AP)—A crowd of mourners interrupted a funeral last night long enough to drag a slaying suspect from jail, shoot him four times and split his head with hatchet blows.

The crowd was composed of mourners following Ismael Rosales' coffin to the cemetery. Castro was charged with shooting Rosales on the orders of a local political leader.

Police made no arrests.

CIO to Send Gainard Charges to Hopkins

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—The National Maritime Union (CIO) said today it was referring to Secretary of Commerce Hopkins the negligence charges against Capt. Joseph Gainard of the City of Flint, which the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation refused to entertain.

Two members of the crew, the chief cook and messboy, made the charges, accusing Capt. Gainard of imperiling the lives of his men when the ship was in the hands of German captors.

Dad Delays Radio Bridal In Girl's War Romance

MONTREAL, Feb. 21 (AP)—Vicky Quesnel, dark haired and 19, was willing today to marry her sergeant in the Canadian Expeditionary Force by transatlantic radio, but her father wanted more time to think about it.

Vickey met Sergt. T. C. Chevalier, six-foot Montreal member of the Royal Canadian Engineers, at a dance two weeks before he sailed for England. By airmail he sent her a ring after her father consented to the engagement.

From England yesterday came a dispatch saying Chevalier had gone to the representative of the Canadian Broadcasting Co. with the Canadian overseas force and proposed a marriage by radio. The radio man said he would see what could be done.

Miss Quesnel, asked whether she would go through with the ceremony with a proxy stand-in for the bridegroom on this side of the Atlantic.

"Sure," she replied.

But the father commented:

"This idea of a proxy marriage needs more careful consideration."

Among those stranded by the storms' intensity was a party of American journalists at Gjossingfjord, where the German ship Altmark was attacked by a British destroyer Friday night.

Tells Weird Story in Death Plot

WARREN, Ark., Feb. 21 (AP)—Federal agents drew from a 23-year-old prisoner here today a weird story of a crime partnership with a convicted killer's wife that resulted in the hitch-hike slaying of a Houston, Tex., traveling salesman.

E. L. Richmond, agent in charge of the Little Rock Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced that the prisoner, booked as Harold Finnon Burkes, confessed early today to his part in the killing of the salesman, Joseph P. Calloway, near Lake Charles, La., last Wednesday.

Richmond said the confession substantiated one made previously to Louisiana officials by Mrs. Claude D. Henry, 24, Beaumont, Tex., who admitted firing the shot that killed Calloway as he knelt nude before her and prayed for his life in a rice field near Lake Charles.

Burkes, using the alias Adams, and Mrs. Henry met at Beaumont, shortly after her husband, Claude "Cowboy" Henry had been sent to Huntsville, Tex., prison to serve a 50-year sentence for the slaying of a San Antonio special officer.

Mrs. Henry wanted him to assist her in liberating her husband from the Huntsville prison.

Burkes persuaded the woman an effort to stage a prison delivery would be unsuccessful and the two decided to come to Arkansas, rob a bank and obtain money with which to work for Henry's release.

They were picked up by Calloway on the highway. Later, he was found slain.

Governor Holds 'Open House'

Gov. Leverett Saltonstall and the State's First Lady will hold open house tomorrow at the State House when the commonwealth holds the traditional observance of Washington's birthday.

The colorful reception will begin at 10 a. m. in the hall of flags where Gov. and Mrs. Saltonstall will greet and shake hands of the public.

Mayor Tobin will pay the city's official tribute to the "father of his country" when he lays a wreath at the base of the statue of Washington in the Public Garden at 10:30 a. m.

School children and many veterans' and civic organizations will take part in both ceremonies.

10 Fire Departments Battle $150,000 Blaze in Greenfield

GREENFIELD, Feb. 21—Ten fire departments, including apparatus from another state, battled a $150,000 blaze which swept three buildings in the business center here today.

The fire demolished the three-story Corsiglia building, an unused fire station, and the two-story Burnham & Donovan block, all in Federal st., 100 feet from the Common.

Masses of flame and sparks billowed into the air and threatened the center of town with a general conflagration. Fire Chief Herbert Ferris ordered a general alarm sounded and called for help from all surrounding communities.

MAKE 45-MILE RUN

Men and equipment, making runs of as long as 45 miles, arrived from Brattleboro, Vt., Holyoke, Northampton, South Deerfield, Athol, Orange, Amherst, Turners Falls and Shelburne Falls.

Officials said the blaze broke out in the Corsiglia building.

Soon the entire structure was a furnace as flames swept through a newl remodeled grocery store, the Alwin and Olga restaurant on the second floor and a sign painter's shop on the third story.

FIRE SPREADS

Advancing to buildings on either side, the fire ruined a jewelry store, bakery and candy shop on the first floor of the Burnham building and damaged the Rose Garden restaurant upstairs.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM WYLER

BETTE DAVIS, COOPER 'TOPS,' SAYS WYLER

With the lovely Mrs. Wyler, nee Margaret Tallichet—whom amateur talent-scout Carole Lombard discovered for Paramount right in that studio's own publicity department—he paused in Boston's Ritz-Carlton overnight.

The Wylers are "between engagements"—a late one with skis in Canada's Laurentian mountains, which Mrs. Wyler remembers ruefully with a glance at a pretty but bruised ankle, and a forthcoming one with the West Indies-bound S. S. Nieuw Amsterdam Saturday.

Wyler, who directed "Wuthering Heights," fourth in the nationwide critics' "Ten Best" list for 1939, agrees with her countless fans that Newton's Miss Davis is the screen's most talented actress.

He wishes, he says, that her envious contemporaries on the movie-lots would take a tip from this first star to score a "Best Ten" triple under a single studio's (Warners) banner would smarten up on how she got that way.

"She's very quick. She comes prepared on the set—with definite ideas on developing the character she is to play and with her 'sides' memorized.

"Too many would-be stars never achieve their ambitions because they've the bad habit of learning their lines on the set. There isn't that much talent in anyone. Many people think Bette Davis just has had the breaks. You can't give good performances by getting breaks. It's hard work, and lots of it."

Cooper, the lucky fellow, is an entirely different style of actor, according to Wyler. He said:

"Gary is a comedian in the truest sense of the word. He doesn't have to work at it. He is naturally amusing and charming, and he has a wonderful flair for giving a performance that extra something that makes it a great deal better than good. He can do a comedy scene better than anybody I know."

LILLIAN ROTH
Tells Court Story

'PLENTY OF PUNCH' IN LAST NIP

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Two drinks for two—no more, no less—suddenly were climaxed by a knock-out, fracturing, punch to her jaw.

Such was the story told in court by Lillian Roth, once of Boston, current Broadway torch singer. Involved is Eugene Weiner, oft-arrested broker playboy.

As a result, Weiner was being held today under $1500 bail, accused of assaulting the 29-year-old warbler of torrid melodies.

Smartly clad, in a silver fox cape and a chic black hat with a veil, the former Roxbury musical comedy star told Magistrate W. A. Farrell in vivid language how Weiner allegedly fractured her jaw with a single wallop.

"We were spending a quiet evening after dinner in my apartment," she testified.

"We were playing Egyptian card games and celebrating the fact Mr. Weiner was going on the wagon, and the two martinis he'd had for dinner were to be his last."

Everything moved delightfully, according to schedule, the singer indicated, until she went into another room "to put on something comfortable," and Weiner took the occasion to sneak a drink.

Catching him with the drink in his hand, Lillian said she told him he "was just a drunk," and then:

"When I said that, he hit me on the right side of the jaw. The next thing I remember was getting up off the floor with all my teeth wobbling around loose in my head. It was awful. They just took the wires off last week."

Lillian said she spent four days in the hospital.

Scheduled later was Weiner's side of the battle, according to his attorney, Joseph Wohl. The broker's only comment as he left court was:

EXTRA OFFICIAL

Love Suit Resumes After Dad's Collapse

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (AP)—James Roosevelt, son of the President, filed answer today to his wife's cross-complaint for divorce, thus placing the suit in position for trial.

Roosevelt, a motion picture producer, sued Mrs. Betsey Cushing Roosevelt last Thursday, alleging desertion. She countered with a charge of desertion and cruelty.

In his answer, Roosevelt denied the charges in general terms. Milton H. Schwartz, his attorney, said he had not discussed with his client any arrangement for one party or the other to obtain the decree without contest.

Should the action remain on the court calendar as a contested case, four or five months might elapse before it could be brought to trial. Should either party withdraw opposition, a hearing might be possible within the next few days.

The Roosevelts married in Brookline, Mass., in 1930 and separated in 1938. The two children, Sara Delano, nearly 8, and Kate, 4, are with their mother.

COPSTETRICIAN—John Lawless (strange name for a copper, what?) poses with Mrs. Catherine Gordon and her children and holds the new Gordon baby he helped deliver in emergency call. When he answered radio call he didn't have time to call doctor . . . so . . . now he's copstetrician.

Marked by the breakdown of the father-in-law, Abraham Schlinsky, on the witness stand, trial of the $50,000 alienation of affections suit brought by Harold Aronson of Allston, was scheduled to continue in Suffolk Superior Court today.

Testifying in his own defense, Schlinsky, wealthy Boylston st. furrier, sobbed as he described his battle for the marital happiness of his daughter, Frances, whose affections Aronson accuses the father-in-law of alienating.

Schlinsky told Judge J. Arthur Baker that he had purchased the bridal clothing for his daughter, who since has divorced Aronson. He said he had furnished her home and that he gave his son-in-law pocket money and on one occasion $100 in cash.

"All I cared about was my daughter's happiness and I never came between her and her husband. I wanted them to be happy together," Schlinsky said.

BARES SLUGGING

The father testified that Aronson, after several quarrels with his young wife, left her for two weeks, shortly after the birth of their baby, and that his daughter had been temporarily living at her parents' home.

"On one occasion," Schlinsky testified, "Aronson came to my home at 2:30 on Sunday morning. When I opened the door he hit me with his fist on my mouth, drawing blood.

"Harold shouted: 'She took my furniture; now I'm going to take my baby.' I begged him not to do that. I said: 'The baby is sick. Don't do it.'

"Harold went into my daughter's bedroom, where my daughter was standing with the baby in her arms. He threw them both to the floor. His brother and his brother-in-law, who had come with him, grabbed him and led him out of the room. Someone had called the police, and when the officers arrived they took the three men away."

SOBS BITTERLY

It was at this point that Schlinsky broke down on the stand, sobbing bitterly and declaring that his only interest had been the happiness of his daughter.

Schlinsky testified his son-in-law had quarrelled with his wife about the care of their baby, and had suggested:

"Why not let your father take care of him?"

GOT HOME SAFE IN BLIZZARD BUT FRIEND DIED IN SNOW

More and more letters are pouring in, telling of personal experiences in the St. Valentine's storm. Have you sent in yours yet?

For each letter published, the writer is awarded $1—and one of the winners might just as well be you.

Don't worry about your style in writing. Just sit down and write it, then send your letters to the Blizzard Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

The following storm experience is related by John W. Shepherd of Harvard pl., Somerville, one of today's winners:

"It was about 1 o'clock in the morning when my friend, who worked with me in the Watertown Arsenal, said, 'Well, John it's time to leave now.'

"We both bid each other farewell and departed in opposite directions.

"Having tramped through the storm for five hours I finally reached home, exhausted. I found my hands and feet frozen from the 10-mile hike, but I was very glad to greet a nice warm bed.

A TOUGH 100 YARDS

"After I enjoyed a well-needed sleep, I awoke to read the morning newspaper. To my deepest sorrow, I read that my companion had never reached home, but was found dead in a snowbank.

"I shall always be grateful to God that I was able to reach home alive, regardless of the suffering I had endured through that fateful blizzard."

Another $1 winner today is Thomas Hayward of Alpine st., Somerville, who sent in the following letter:

"My wife and I left work at 12:45 a. m. and had to walk from Boylston st. subway to Park st. subway, where we got a Lechmere sq. car.

"We waited at Lechmere sq. until a. m. Thursday. We were so cold that we decided to make a try for the lunch wagon about 100 yards from the station. Just before we made it, the wife fainted from the cold and exhausted from bucking the storm.

"While trying to pick her up and make the lunch wagon, I heard a voice say, 'Bring her in here.' I looked around and saw an Elevated bus stalled in a drift. It was a Metropolitan officer and the bus driver.

"The driver raced the motor so there could be more heat for us. While she was coming to, I made the lunch wagon and got some coffee.

"We stayed in the bus until around 10:30 a. m. and then started to walk. We arrived home at 12 noon on Thursday.

"I wish to thank the bus driver and the officer for all they did for us, and the few others that they called in. The Elevated ought to be mighty proud to have such men working for them."

MILE ON SNOW SHOES

"I was on a Commonwealth-Lake st. car. It was 1 a. m. The blizzard was raging in all its ferocity. Three automobiles were on the car tracks, unable to move.

"We all settled back to spend the evening as guests of the Elevated. I had sickness at my home and was anxious to be there.

"A young man came along on snowshoes. I told him how anxious I was to get home and he carried me for one mile on his snowshoes to my door.

Briton Travels As Mail Parcel

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Maj. L. Palmer, after waiting unsuccessfully for six days for a passenger vessel to take him from Guernsey to Alderney, today "mailed" himself for the 20-mile English channel journey.

He bore a label with the word "Parcel," and was accompanied by a postman charged with the task of "delivering" him to the addressed destination.

WATCH YOUR THROAT AFTER SUDDEN EXPOSURES

Gargle LISTERINE

Sudden temperature changes, like drafts...wet feet...and fatigue, may lower body resistance. Then colds or sore throat often develop and germs in the mouth get the upper hand. Prompt use of Listerine Antiseptic may often head off an irritated throat and keep a cold from becoming troublesome—because it kills millions of surface germs associated with these conditions.

HUB CLINIC GIVES KENNEDY AN 'O.K.'

Breakfastless, but beaming a sun-tanned smile, Boston's Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, emerged from the Lahey Clinic today and announced that he had been "given the O.K."

Two hours he spent in the clinic undergoing a checkup by Dr. Sara M. Jordan, specialist in stomach ailments, and being thoroughly X-rayed—which accounted for his visit without breakfast.

"I feel better," he said, "especially since my last trip here, and the doctors have given me the O. K. So I will be able to leave for Europe Saturday on the S. S. Manhattan from New York."

At noon, however, he returned to the clinic briefly to view the results of the X-ray pictures and to be given a last assurance that the condition which had bothered him for some time had been cleared up.

MUST STAY OUT OF WAR

The ambassador returned to the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in a newspaperman's car and announced gleefully that he was wearing rubbers left in his room last night by another reporter.

"They came in handy," said Kennedy, who arrived here last night, rubberless and amazed at the extent of Boston's snowfalls.

Asked about the European situation and the possibility that the United States might be involved, the ambassador said:

"The United States must stay on the alert during the European crisis. I see no reason why we should get into it. Of course they would like to see the United States as an ally. They believe that they are fighting for the right principles."

In the matter of sending envoys to Europe, Myron Taylor to the Vatican and Sumner Welles to survey conditions in the war-involved countries, Ambassador Kennedy commented:

"I approve of Myron Taylor going to Vatican City. After all, every other nation has a representative there but our government.

"We must take into consideration that the Pope, besides being a great churchman and Catholic, is a great diplomat and is doing his utmost to gain peace for the world."

"There doesn't seem to be much political action around here," he marked. "It seems, from what I hear, that they are all awaiting a Roosevelt decision."

Kennedy said that later in the day he would visit his sisters in East Boston, leaving there in time to catch the Merchants Limited at the South Station at 5 p. m.

SAILS SATURDAY

He had planned to fly back to New York, but when told the airport was still snow and slush-blocked here and that he would have to go to Providence to catch a plane, he decided on the train, which would get him into New York considerably under five hours.

After a short visit with his family in New York, he will go to Washington for last-minute business at the State Department, returning to New York in time to board the Manhattan on Saturday.

PHIL SPITALNY
Picks Talent

Girls! Here's Chance to Win Fame, Prize

Every girl—and there are 30 of them—in Phil Spitalny's unique all-girl "Hour of Charm" orchestra, which opens a week's engagement at the R. K. O. Boston theater tomorrow won her place in the band through audition.

With that fact in mind, the Boston American and the Boston Theater have decided to find the most talented feminine musician and vocalist in the city and have arranged with Maestro Spitalny to choose the finalists. Even though there are no positions open in the "Hour of Charm" orchestra, here is an opportunity to be auditioned by a nationally-famous stage and radio star—and perhaps share in $35 in cash prizes.

Auditions will be held backstage at the Boston Theater for three days beginning Monday, Feb. 26, at 9 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Spitalny will hear all entrants, each day selecting the most promising talent. Finalists will appear on the stage of the Boston Theater on Wdnesday night and the cash-prize winners will be chosen by the audience.

If you think you have talent, if you're a girl 18 years of age or over, if you play an instrument or sing, see to it that you're at the stage door of the Boston Theater on any one of the three mornings, beginning Monday. First prize in this thrilling audition contest will be $50, while second place winner will be awarded $25, with $10 going to third place. It's worth a try!

9 Gloucestermen Landed in P. R.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Feb. 21 (AP)—Nine American fishermen, residents of Gloucester, Mass., arrived in San Juan today after having been rescued by the Netherlands vessel Pygmalion, which picked them up when their boat was wrecked off the coast of Cape May, N. J.

The fishermen, headed by Michael Driscoll, master of the wrecked boat, were brought into port by a cutter.

Driscoll said their ship, the fishing smack Hawes, encountered a violent storm a few days out of Gloucester.

After battling the tempest for 28 hours, during which the smack's superstructure was carried away, the crew was taken aboard the Dutch steamer. When last seen the Hawes was sinking, Driscoll said.

MYSTERY IN HERO BURIAL

said. "He must have hidden some of the alcohol and got at it Saturday.

"He was so bad, the wife of one of the guards saw him leaving the barn where he had been milking and telephoned her husband.

KNOWN A FIGHTER

"The guard found Kelley lying on his cot in the dormitory. First Kelley said he was sick. Then he admitted he was drunk.

"He asked the guard to give him a break and let him sleep it off, but the guard said he had been ordered to take Kelley over to the jail building.

"Then Kelley got sore and became somewhat abusive. But the guard hustled him out to the other building.

"Kelley was a big guy, about six feet tall, and he had a reputation for fighting with cops and getting tough when he was manhandled. It doesn't seem likely they threw him in the hole without a roughhouse.

CRIED FOR WATER

"It was about half past 9 in the morning when they took Kelley away. He must have died early that night. The word was passed around among us inmates that he was screaming for water and tearing the padding off the cell with his bare hands.

"The guards knew well enough Kelley had been drinking some sort of synthetic booze. They ought to have known he needed a doctor. Several inmates who had been drinking with Kelley were pretty sick. But they got the stuff off their stomachs and recovered.

"Drinking parties at the farm were nothing new. Only a little while before, some of the boys in the kitchen had made wine out of plum juice and had all got stiff. There was quite an official row about it."

MOTHER SEEKS PROBE

Kelley's mother said today she was promised a doctor's report on the cause of her son's death, but never received it.

She expressed surprise when she was informed that Dr. Marshall Alling, Lowell medical examiner, had turned his secret autopsy report over to the presiding justice of the Lowell district court and had forwarded Kelley's organs to the Harvard medical school.

Kelley's mother said she would ask Dist. Atty. Bradford to make a full investigation.

Sheriff McElroy said he understood an attempt was made to get medical advice for Kelley but that the doctor hadn't arrived.

Cultist Mother Tells How She Slew Child

MONTEBELLO, Cal., Feb. 21 (AP)—Five-year-old Geraldine Hardaker "was too good to live," her mother was quoted by Police Chief Harry Bispham of Palm Springs here, after the woman's arrest climaxed a search spurred by reports the child's death may have been a "human sacrifice."

Mrs. Betty Hardaker, 26, was being returned for further questioning in the slaying of her daughter, found in a city park rest room, her head crushed and her body scratched and bleeding.

Mrs. Ella Karnes had told police her daughter, Mrs. Hardaker, was a member of a religious cult which "believes in human sacrifice."

Chief Bispham arrested Mrs. Hardacker in an Indian reservation shack on a tip from two youths he said told him the woman had accepted a ride with them to Palm Springs yesterday, "talking all kinds of funny gibberish."

BASHED CHILD'S HEAD

The chief said she first denied her identity, but later told this story:

"We were walking in the park. It was bright and beautiful there. I looked at my baby and saw the shining light of innocence in her eyes.

"The thought swept over me suddenly, driving everything else from my mind. It surged into my brain again and again—'She is too good to live. She must die. She must not grow up to endure the pain and agony that I have known.'

"I took her into the rest room. I held her close to me and fondled her and kissed her lips.

"I picked her up by the heels and swung her high and struck her head against the concrete floor, again and again until I knew that she was dead.

"I was going to end my life. But I decided it would not be right to bring death into the home of my father and mother. They were not in the house when I got there. I went away."

DID NOT ASK HELP

The "human sacrifice" angle in the child's death brought a denial today from the Rev. Nellie Shewbert, pastor of the Church of the Philosophy of the Apostles, to which Mrs. Hardaker belonged.

Warns of Civil Rising in India

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 21 (AP)—Likelihood of a civil disobedience campaign some time after March 17 was raised today by Maulana Abdul Kalan Azad, newly-elected president of the All-India Congress, which is seeking national independence.

"Unless some definite understanding is reached in the near future between the congress and the British," he said, "the launching of a civil disobedience movement cannot be postponed much longer beyond the plenary session of the congress, March 17."

He added, however that "even one minute before the launching of any movement," Mohandas K. Gandhi, the party's moving spirit, would be willing to consider a peaceable settlement.

FINNS BEAT REDS BACK FROM LINE

HELSINKI, Feb. 21 (AP)—Finland's subbornly resisting defenders repulsed Russian attacks that continued into the night along the battered Karelian Isthmus front, a high command communique reported.

Soviet land attacks centered on Finland's Mannerheim line across the isthmus.

An attack by two Russian divisions, "strongly supported by artillery and aircraft," was said to have been repelled at Tiapale, on the eastern sector of the isthmus front, as was continued hammering at the front's western end.

"Very many enemy tanks were destroyed," the Finns said, in the western sector near the Gulf of Finland, scene of some of the war's heaviest fighting which has brought the Russians within a few miles of Viipuri.

Enemy losses were described as heavy at Taipale where the Finns said "the fighting raged fiercely until late at night."

Northeast of Lake Lagoda, 50 miles from the isthmus front, there was relative quiet on the sector where Finland two days ago reported wiping out a Russian division, but "a few enemy strong pjoints were captured."

Norway Refuses To Intern Ship

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 21 (INS)—The Norwegian Government made it unmistakably clear today that it has no intention of complying with British demands that the German prison ship Altmark and its Nazi crew be interned for duration of the war.

With resentment still burning in Norway over the action of a British cruiser in attacking the Altmark in Norwegian territorial waters and freeing imprisoned British seamen, Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht underlined his government's attitude by saying:

"This government has not discussed internment of the Altmark. The German Government can dispose of the ship as it wishes. It is none of our business."

Latest Ship Casualties

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 21 (AP)—The 4760-ton Netherlands freighter Tara was reported today to be sinking 60 miles southwest of Cape Finisterre, France, as the result of being shelled without warning.

A message to the Amsterdam owners from a French wireless station did not identify the nationality or type of the attacking vessel.

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The 2476-ton Norwegian steamer Steinstad was sunk in the Atlantic Thursday by a submarine, and 13 of her crew are missing, 11 survivors reported today when they landed a disabled motorboat on an island off the Irish coast.

They said the submarine followed their ship all Wednesday night before attacking.

least 200 Russians were reported killed when they attacked in buglike airplane-motored sleds on frozen Lake Ladoga.

A Finnish communique asserted the eastern end of the Mannerheim line was holding firm with attacks being beaten back on the ice of Lake Suvanto, inland from Lake Ladoga near Taipale.

The advance of the Russian forces on the western side of the Karelian Isthmus was indicated as Russian shells whistled into the city of Viipuri, virtually deserted of its population of 74,000 and now classed as part of the front.

Swedes' Finnish Aid Is Increased

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 21 (INS) — Sweden's Parliament, turning a deaf ear to a storm of demands for more aid for Finland, today gave Premier Per Albin Hansson's government a vote of confidence on the foreign policy issue.

While Parliament backed Hansson's refusal to grant direct assistance to Finland, the government took measures to increase nonmilitary help, striving to appease the Activists who insisted on more vigorous measures against the Soviets.

An organization known as the committee for freedom of the north submitted a petition which stated:

"If Finland crashes, Sweden's own life is threatened. The decisive moment has arrived.

"Finland's cause is ours. The Finnish front must be held and helped by Swedish assistance. Intervention from states outside the north would threaten to make our country a scene of war."

Reds Claim Welles' Trip Prelude to U. S. War

MOSCOW, Feb. 21 (INS)—A charge that the European tour of Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles is a prelude to entrance of the United States into the European war was broadcast by the Moscow radio today.

"Welles' mission is a prelude to American entry into the war," the announcer asserted. "It will consist in discovering what compensation the Anglo-French war bloc is ready to give the United States for its participation in the war front strangling Germany.

"Against the will of the majority of Americans, the present American rulers want to have a hand in shaping Europe after the war.

"The first stage of the Finnish war has ended," the radio stated in a thundering announcement as the Soviet high command claimed capture of the western Mannerheim line fortress of Koivisto.

'Art Mystery' Victim Identifies Newsie

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—The shambling figure of John (Red) Poggi, 42, a financial district pug-nose newsie, appeared in the police lineup today as detectives sought to connect him with a baffling case of suicide and attempted murder which they have dubbed the "art gallery mystery."

"I never saw the man before in my life," he declared," referring to the art gallery executive whose skull he was accused of having cracked.

Incongruously fitted into a drama of high finance and priceless art treasures, Poggi shuffled into the New Drop, Staten Island, police station yesterday after a vain 48-hour search for him and mildly inquired if he was "wanted."

He was booked on a charge of felonious assault.

SUICIDE AFTER RIDE

A few hours later, in a Manhattan hospital, Poggi was identified by Milton B. Logan, former president of the world-famous American Art Association-Anderson Galleries, Inc., as the man who slugged him with a lead pipe, wrapped in adhesive tape, during a wild ride through East Side New York Monday night.

With Logan on the ride was his former associate, John T. Geery, secretary-treasurer of the art galleries, who, three hours later—after meeting his wife at the Waldorf-Astoria with a bleeding face and battered skull—shot himself to death in the basement of his luxurious home at Garden City, L. I.

Logan's story, mumbled as he lay in a hospital bed in a critical condition from a fractured skull, was that he met Geery at 5:45 p. m. Monday, near Poggi's financial district news stand and Geery introduced the cloth-capped, barrel-chested newsie as "a friend."

STORY OF ATTACK

Logan said Poggi offered to drive them uptown but demurred at taking the wheel himself, saying he didn't like to drive on slippery streets.

Geery volunteered to drive, while Logan sat beside him. He said Poggi, a cousin of "Louie the Lump" Poggi, a police character from the old "Kid Dropper" gang days, hunched in the back seat.

"We were driving on the East River drive," Logan told police, "when I was struck from behind —a terrific blow.

"I turned and grabbed the bludgeon, but he hit me again. We struggled and the thing fell out the window. Then the door swung open and I fell out."

Logan and Geery were indicted last year in connection with art sales. They took over their art business on a shoe-string and it grossed as high as $9,000,000 a year.

Famous Physician says:

"Watch Your Kidneys"

Try CHENEY'S Diuretic Pills with JUNIPER and ASPARAGUS

The kidneys are one of the most important eliminative organs of the body. Their useful function in eliminating waste matter and acids and poisons from the blood stream cannot be overemphasized. Many ailments are aggravated by poorly functioning kidneys. Some of the symptoms often due to kidney disfunction are: Pain in the back, getting up nights, bladder weakness (too frequent urination), scalding urine, scanty urine, cloudy urine, leg pains and swelling of the ankles, difficulty in urination or strong odor to urine.

Juniper and Asparagus Pills help stimulate the secreting cells or nerves of the kidneys and flush, cleanse and purify the kidneys and bladder, helping them to perform their required duties of eliminating irritating acids and poisonous waste matter. Safe and reliable and often proved an effective remedy. Mother Nature's own diuretics and stimulators. Gentle in action, free from after effects.

Juniper Berries

Nature's aid for Kidney and Bladder ailments. First used by the Indians, later by our forefathers for pains in the back, lumbago, scalding, or too frequent urination.

Asparagus Root

Used with great benefit in connection with Juniper Berries. Everyone knows that Asparagus is beneficial for the kidneys. It is necessary, however, to use it in a very concentrated form to get best results.

COLD SNAP TRAILS STORM

in respect to one of the crew, swept overboard and drowned yesterday in the gale 75 miles east of Boston.

The vessel was returning from La Have Banks, off Nova Scotia, and Lawrence Doucette, 45, of Reading, had just gone off watch and was standing on deck, amidship, when a giant wave broke over the ship and he was swept into the sea.

The ship was put about and searched for more than an hour without success before giving Doucette up for lost.

In a spectacular accident caused by the storm, Samuel Goldstein, 42, of Nutting rd., Cambridge, was burned and cut, but not seriously, when trapped in the cab of his truck after it skidded in New Haven and broke a gas main across a New Haven R. R. underpass.

TRUCK IS BURNED

The truck, carrying chemicals, was destroyed with its cargo.

Eight passenger and three freight trains were delayed when girders of the pass became red hot and it was feared the structure might collapse.

At times threatening to equal the Valentine Day blizzard, the storm petering out today fanned a $150,000 conflagration which swept three business blocks in Greenfield and produced traffic accidents by the score.

New storm deaths, in addition to that of Fisherman Doucette, were:

Horace W. Orr, 74, of Mill st., Newton, director of the Newton Trust Co., Newton Savings Bank and Newton Cooperative Bank, who collapsed after clearing his driveway of snow.

Mrs. Mary E. Noonan, 50, of West Sixth st., South Boston, who collapsed and died of a heart attack after she ran through a slush-filled street to reach a streetcar.

SHIP LURCH FATAL

Only a few hours earlier, Capt. John Tavers of Provincetown was lost when a lurch of his ship hurled him into the rolling seas off Cape Cod.

Although weather observers predicted the weather would "break" today, Boston Public Works Commissioner George C. Hyland ordered large crews kept steadily at work in all parts of the city. At daybreak, the following statistics on snow removal efforts were issued to Mayor Tobin's office:

Total number of men at work, 4500; 250 plows, 50 bulldozers, 40 snow loaders and 600 snow-removal trucks. Ten large plows were rented from the Boston Elevated Co. to aid the Boston highway forces.

As the snow and wind continued, city officials feared the two storms will cost a total of $1,000,000 to taxpayers for snow removal.

The breakdown of garbage collections as a result of the storm may have serious consequences, acting-Health Commissioner Joseph A. Cahalan informed the mayor yesterday. Many streets have been blocked since last Wednesday and many trucks ordinarily used for collecting garbage have been diverted to snow removal.

In the emergency, citizens are urged to cooperate by burning garbage in stoves or furnaces "with the draft open" or, if such incineration is impossible, to place the garbage in metal barrels and cover it with lime.

The Cambridge city council voted $150,000 for snow removal last night and thereby added nearly a dollar to the tax rate. More money may be needed, as the public works department was instructed to keep snow removal crews working until Saturday.

Although there is no record of the change at City Hall, the Elk Towel and Apron Supply Company shifted its name to the Ik Laundry, Inc., following the state police probe and after the governor conferred with the police commissioner.

TIMILTY RAPS CHARGE

At the city clerk's office, Walter Timilty is still listed as doing business under the name of the Elk Towel & Apron Supply Co. at 156A Warren st., Roxbury. According to the suit, the Elk aundry, Inc., moved to Kemble st., Roxbury, with Walter Timilty still its head.

High Boston police officials are alleged to have aided Timilty in getting business from tavern owners, entertainment purveyors and others whose business unfriendly police might be in a position to damage.

The Stretch brothers ask an injunction restraining the two Timiltys from "using police in the solicitation of business." Hearing on their petition has been set for Feb. 28. The laundrymen also ask the court to set damages suffered, allegedly by them as the result of Timilty's "coercing" busines away from them.

"I, as police commissioner," he said, "have not, either directly or indirectly, used my office to assist Walter in obtaining business."

When Poisons Slow KIDNEYS and Irritate Bladder

Flush Them Out For 35 Cents

Go to your druggist today and get this safe, swift and harmless diuretic and stimulant—ask for Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules and start at once to flush kidneys of waste matter saturated with acids and poisons.

That's a quick and effective way to help bring about more healthy kidney activity and relieve that bladder irritation with its scanty passage with smarting and burning as well as restless nights.

Remember the kidneys often need flushing as well as the bowels, and some symptoms of kidney weakness may be: getting up often during the night—puffy eyes—backache.

But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine—right from Haarlem in Holland—the price is small (35 cents), the good results will fulfill your expectations. Don't accept a substitute.

HIGHWAY CONDITIONS TOLD BY STATE POLICE

Snow-packed, icy highways throughout the State slowed down vehicular traffic today as State Police warned motorists to keep autos idle until rising temperatures prevail tomorrow.

With heavy snow falling in western Massachusetts, State Police reported "all roads and highways open with difficulty" and cautioned drivers to keep on main arteries and avoid passing on narrow roads.

State Police announced the following highway conditions at 9 a. m.:

BERKSHIRE COUNTY — All roads open, but snow-covered and icy with a scattering of drifts. Twenty inches of snow in Windsor. Main highways sanded.

FRANKLIN, HAMPDEN and HAMPSHIRE COUNTIES—Sanded, highways and roads; 12 to 16 inches of snow on Berkshire trails.

WORCESTER COUNTY—Trucks widening highways. All thoroughfares sanded, except small roads in suburban areas; 14 inches of snow over entire district.

ESSEX COUNTY—Equipment out widening and sanding. Slippery and snow-packed roads and highways. Eight inches of snow.

NORFOLK COUNTY—Slight mist and light snow. Roads open.

CAPE COD—Roads open all the way to Provincetown, but slippery and frozen ridges of snow in some districts. Heavy snow in Plymouth county and rain and snow in Barnstable County, with roads ice-coated; sanded only near communities.

PUZZLE No. 6

START toward a $10,000.00 cash winning today! That's the great First Prize waiting to be won. And there are 99 other prizes, too.

If you are not already entered, you will find it easy to begin today. On this page are all six puzzles of the First Week's Series, together with an Entry Form on which to send in your answers. And tomorrow we will print all the puzzles to date of this week's (the second) series, so that you will be entirely up to date and ready for Puzzles 11 and 12 on Friday and Saturday, winding up the Second Series.

EACH PUZZLE REPRESENTS A WORD

The idea is to find the WORD represented by each puzzle. Note how you are told to add and subtract certain given letters and certain illustrated objects. Add and subtract those letters and the letters in the names of the objects in accordance with the plus and minus signs. (The solution diagram indicates the length of the word you're seeking.)

SUBMIT YOUR 1st SIX ANSWERS ON ENTRY FORM; ENCLOSE 10c IN COIN

When you've solved the first six puzzles at the left, send in those six answers on the handy ENTRY FORM below, enclosing 10 cents in coin. The rules require a similar 10 cents remittance with each weekly series of answers, each seris consisting of the six puzzles that appear from Monday through Saturday in the DAILY RECORD or AMERICAN. (You can follow the contest in either paper.)

NEATNESS DOESN'T COUNT! NO LETTERS TO WRITE! NO SUBSCRIPTIONS REQUIRED!

HOW YOU SOLVE A REBUS PUZZLE

Supposing you had a puzzle like this: BREAD minus BED plus Y equals a 3-letter word.

To solve this puzzle, you would cross out the letters B, E, D from the word BREAD, leaving you only the letters R A. To that you would add T, giving you the word RAY as your answer.

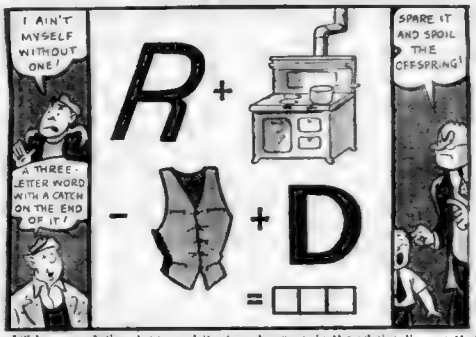
PUZZLE No. 9

WHAT WORD DOES THIS PUZZLE REPRESENT? Add and Subtract the Letters Given and the Letters in the Names of the Objects Pictured



Fill in your solution above, one letter to each square, in the solution diagram that follows the equal sign.

Mail or bring this Answer Form as soon as possible or in any event, not later than Midnight, Saturday, Feb. 24. Enclose 10 cents in coin, in accordance with the rules.

The Rules

1. The Boston Record-American Rebus Game is open to all bona fide residents of the New England states, except employees of the Boston Record, the Boston American and the Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, any person acting as a penny for another, and any person who has won $500 or more in any newspaper contest.

2. Beginning Monday, February 12th, 1940, a Rebus puzzle will be published each weekday in the Boston Record and the Boston American. Contestants may obtain their puzzles from either publication. The six puzzles published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen weekly series. Answers for each week's series of puzzles should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor, care of the Boston Record-American Rebus Game. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3. One hundred (100) prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the publshed schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their solutions, achieve the 100 highest scores. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4. In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking puzzles, and if necessary a second, third or fourth set of tie-breaking puzzles. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and governing regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking puzzles. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking puzzles, without assistance, in the offices of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5. In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of answers with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged.

To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of puzzles and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, The Boston Record-American will present a special series of fifteen original Rebus puzzles created by Harold Hart, foremost puzzle expert.

6. Any person, by entering this contest, agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record and the Boston American on all matters affecting this contest, including meaning of the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the judging of answers, the scoring of solutions, and the interpretation of such instructions (governing individual puzzles) as may be announced by the contest officials. By entering this contest, participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record and the Boston American and will not be returned.

7. Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. The Boston Record and the Boston American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or sadly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American Contest Editor to the contestant.

Marian Miller in Sensational Dances at Globe Friday

New Burlesque Queen for Hub

Marian Miller, who zips open a white-gown interlude of sensational dances for her big Friday night Hub engagement at the Globe with Gene Fontaine and Jones for the week, begins a week's stay.

The Hub will be the first New England city to see the presentation of these new dances and costumes by the star.

Also new for the new burlesque season will be a series of season favorites including Mary Ann Irene Delmar, Lee Ward and Frances Lorraine. Lee last year, after a short engagement at the 30 dancing girl candies who will bring new fun, color, creations to the stage.

For holiday week bookings, the Gaiety will have Hank Henry and Henry Wills Moore with new-type comedy routines aided by Bob Arlen, Connie Kay, George Rapee, Harry Evans and Irving Benson.

The four week Scollay headliners for August in the revue: Dolan and Conway and Jerry and Joe.

The Globe opens its doors to patrons daily at 9 a. m. with a program of feature pictures, comedy shorts and newsreels. There is continuous entertainment until 11 p. m. including three complete burlesque shows, two in the afternoon and one in the evening.

Tomorrow night will provide the final opportunity to see Kitty Ellis, blonde headliner of the current stage show. An added attraction will be the jubilee reunion of 20 radio amateurs on the stage.

Tonight there is to be a special Washington's Birthday eve midnight show, starting at 11:30 p. m.

'Dr. Kildare' Film Tops Bowdoin Bill

"The Secret of Dr. Kildare," third in the excellent Doctor Kildare series, co-starring Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore and "South of the Border," starring popular Gene Autrey, begin a three-day run on Bowdoin Square screen today.

Miss Skinner Repeats Hit

For her second offering in a week of repertory at the Wilbur Theater, the generously gifted Cornelia Otis Skinner, she is an accomplished writer as well as a talented actress last night presented "The Loves of Charles II," one of her earliest and most successful historical monologue dramas.

Six weeks, whose love-affairs chiefly interwoven with that of Charles form that gallery of diversified females in "The Loves of Charles II." There was Hortense Mancini, his mother, whom we see after exile to Paris by the Cromwellians in 1649. It is a vivid portrayal, as are the Dutch tavern wench, Lady Castlemaine, Louise de Querouille, Nell Q Gwynn and Catherine of Braganza.

She preceded this piece de resistance with three original modern character sketches. These were "The Eve of Departure" "Hotel Porch," and "Being Presented." They reveal her literary ability as well as her rare gift for character acting.

"Edna His Wife," which she presented Monday night, will be repeated this afternoon and nightly for the remainder of the week. Her Saturday matinee program will feature "The Empress Eugenie," preceded by three original modern character sketches.

Change Made in Opera Lead

Mme. Lotte Lehmann, instead of Mme. Flagstad as originally announced, will sing the role of Sieglinde in "Die Walkuere," to be presented Saturday afternoon, March 30, during the Metropolitan Opera Company's engagement at the Boston Opera House. The opening performance will be given on Thursday evening, March 28, and the final one Saturday evening, April 6.

Miss Marjorie Lawrence will sing Brueenhilde as announced, and there will be no change in the remainder of the cast.

On Monday evening, April 1, Mme. Kerstin Thorborg will sing the Brangaene role in "Tristan und Isolde." Edwin McArthur will conduct.

"Lohengrin," to be given Wednesday matinee, April 3, will have Mme. Karin Branzell singing Ostrud.

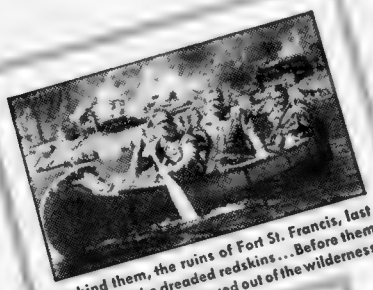
Challenge!

The hope that men live by . . . the yearning for lands unknown, for deeds undone . . . the love of women and the joy of combat — of these this wild story is made! A story of adventure as thrilling as a kiss . . . in our savage borderland of two centuries ago — when the screech of an Indian made the blood freeze, and the forest was alive with hate!



Behind them, the ruins of Fort St. Francis, last outpost of the dreaded redskins . . . Before them —new civilization carved out of the wilderness.

Robert Young as Langdon Towne, fearless Ranger recruit . . . Ruth Hussey as a woman who waited bravely for the man she loved.

Spitalny Comes to RKO Boston

Phil Spitalny and his captivating "Hour of Charm" all-girl orchestra familiar to Sunday night radio audiences, will appear in person on the RKO Boston Theater stage for the week beginning tomorrow, Washington's Birthday.

Spitalny and his charm-plus orchestra will recreate on the Boston stage their weekly radio program, favorite of 11,000,000 clubwomen in the popular music field.

Evelyn of the Magic Violin, first lady of the orchestra and concertmistress; Maxine, pretty singing star; the Three Little Words, harmony trio; Rosa Linda and Lola, piano duo; and June Lorraine, impersonator, will perform individually for their RKO-Boston audience.

Thirty beautiful, talented girls and one man—the lucky Spitalny—make up the Hour of Charm cast, specializing in lighter familiar music preferred by the majority.

Gala Midnight Show at Gayety

Movie Program For Children

'BROTHER RAT AND A BABY' AT PARA-FENWAY TOMORROW

Favorites in Comedy Sequel

"Brother Rat and a Baby," comedy successor to last year's comedy success, "Brother Rat," is due on the Paramount and Fenway screens tomorrow.

In following up last season's film adventures of a group of Virginia Military Institute cadets after graduation, Warner Bros. has combined calendar fact with film fiction by making the second feature the two stories coincide with the time lapse between the pictures.

A year ago, Cadets Wayne Morris, Eddie Albert and Ronald Reagan had graduated from military college. Albert and Jane Bryan were the proud parents of a newly born baby boy. Morris and Reagan got no further than engagements with Priscilla Lane and Jane Wyman.

When "Brother Rat and a Baby" picks them up once more, Morris and Reagan are working in New York. Miss Lane and Miss Wyman are still in college. Albert and Miss Bryan are living in a small southern town, where he is the high school athletic coach. And then baby is a bouncing mischief making youngster just past his first birthday.

The baby role is played by Peter B. Good, the only member of the cast to fudge a trifle on the calendar. Peter was 14 months old the day he was signed for the part.

The twin theaters' second feature, "Parole Fixer," is a G-man adventure story based on an original by J. Edgar Hoover and featuring William Henry, Anthony Quinn and Virginia Dale.

ANDY and Judge Hardy (Mickey Rooney and Lewis Stone to you) having a man-to-man talk in "Judge Hardy and Son," opening tomorrow at the Metropolitan.

Camera Trickery Features New Film at Trans-Lux

It is the story of the escape of a man condemned to death for the murder of his brother by means of a secret formula for making one invisible. While the Invisible Man makes uncanny efforts to trap the criminals actually responsible for the murder, the doctor is as desperately seeking the antidote to the invisible drug.

Farce at Wilbur Soon

"Worth a Million," the Vernon Sylvaine farce which had an extended London run last season, will be presented by Halliday and Keeley at the Wilbur Theater for two weeks beginning March 4.

Heading its cast are Taylor Holmes, remembered for his Secretary of the Treasury characterization in "I'd Rather Be Right;" socialite Cobina Wright, Jr.; the screen's eccentric comedian, Charley Chase; ex-screen siren Nita Naldi and Jesse Ariss of "Three Men on a Horse," "Boy Meets Girl" and other stage hits.

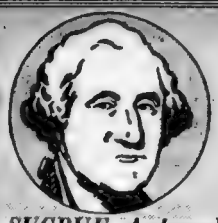
WASHINGTON'S OPEN HOUSE



BIRTHDAY AUTO SECTION

By J. LEO SUGRUE, Automobile Editor

THOUSANDS PLAN TO VIEW MODELS

Tomorrow, Washington's Birthday, open house exhibits by automobile dealers in Boston and surrounding cities and towns will attract thousands of New England motorists to look, to ride and to buy.

In travelling along auto row the writer discovered there are not many "early birds" left; in fact only two who participated in the original open house events were found. Alvan T. Fuller and C. S. Henshaw were exhibitors in the first open house day in the early nineteen hundreds.

Open house on Washington's Birthday was started on Columbus ave., which was then "Bicycle Row." Even then, crowds visited the bicycle shops to learn about the new models.

Alvan T. Fuller pioneered Boston's famous Auto Row and it was a real shock to dealers, in 1910, when he announced he was moving to the corner of Brighton and Commonwealth aves. Competitors christened the building "Fuller's Folly."

DEALERS AMAZED

Ex-Gov. Fuller then amazed the dealers by announcing "open house" and gained a big attendance, while other showrooms were closed. From that time on Washington's Birthday has become the greatest automobile event in Boston, and each year its success and public endorsement gains momentum.

While visitors on Washington's Birthday will glimpse the finest array of products ever offered by America's greatest and most aggressive industry, a trip back through the past will add greater appreciation for the 1940 models.

Though more pronounced progress has been made in recent years than ever before, not a single year in the last 40 has failed to see some step toward improving the motor car, thereby offering the public greater value. The improvements in models and manufacturing have enabled the masses, or average buyer, to enjoy what only the wealthy few could have when the horseless carriage was first introduced.

In listing some of the outstanding motor improvements since Boston held its first Washington's Birthday open house event some 40 years ago, it is impossible to choose any one innovation as the outstanding one of each year. But here are a few, indicating some of the milestones in the forward march of the motor car.

FORWARD STEPS

1901—First American speedometer made.

1903—First car to cross continent took 61 days to do it.

1904—Head lamps included as standard equipment.

1910—Bodies began first trend toward "streamlining."

1912—Windshields made as part of the body by one company.

1915—Top and windshield became standard equipment.

1919—High pressure chassis lubrication adopted.

1922—Balloon tires introduced.

FIRST $1000 CLOSED CARS

1923—First closed cars made to sell for less than $1000.

1924—Bumpers became standard equipment.

1927—Gearshift standard on all cars.

1928—Safety glass introduced as standard equipment.

1934—Synchronized front and rear springs introduced.

1936—House trailers sought spotlight.

1940—Sealed beam headlights universally approved.

COMPLETELY EQUIPPED CAR $4,000 F. O. B. DETROIT

H. G. McDermott Heads Sales Force

Henry G. McDermott for several years divisional sales manager of the United States Rubber Company at Chicago is appointed general sales manager of the Fisk Tire Dealers Corporation with headquarters at the Fisk plant in Chicopee Falls.

Goodrich Names New Operating Manager

J. A. White has been named operating manager of the Boston district of the B. F. Goodrich Company, it was announced by L. L. Black, district manager.

Mr. White joined Goodrich in 1933 and has had wide operating experience. He served as operating manager at the World's Fair exhibit during 1939. He succeeds T. F. Bowen who has been transferred as manager of the Goodrich store.

20,000 PHOTOS

SANTA BARBARA, Cal. (AP)—Because he is interested in humanity and likes to study it, Paul Antony has accumulated a carefully annotated file of 20,000 photographs, taken on three continents and dealing with nearly every phase of human activity.

CITE MARVELOUS PROGRESS IN CARS

The steady march of motor science has made antiques of the earlier cars. The "pride of the models" in the first "Open House Exhibits" along Boston's famous Auto Row lacked the elementary equipment needed today.

As we reminisce through the back files and find an advertisement, in 1910, headed "Completely equipped car $4000 F. O. B. Detroit," we see that an aggressive manufacturer had decided to shoot the works, and, for the first time, include all indispensable accessories then available with the purchase of the car itself.

By today's standards, the manufacturer would be missing the truth a mile, but it was thoroughly accurate then, for the car was sold with windshield, headlamps, tire carrier, horn, top, acetylene gas tank, speedometer and even a tail light.

Up to that year virtually all these items were "extras." Few cars or models were as well equipped as the 1910 car shown illustrated on this page, bare as it looks when you compare it with the 1940 models that you'll find exhibited thus Washington's Birthday along Auto Row.

RESEARCH RESULTS

But research being carried on in the motor industry at that time was to make the "completely equipped" car a relic in a few years. Similarly, automobile research of the past decade has made yesterday's expensive cars inferior to low priced models of today.

In 1910 the purchaser of the "completely equipped" car had to crank it by hand, for the first successful self-starter came late the following year. He was given a folding windshield, but had to resort to side curtains for cold weather driving.

MORE FOR MONEY

Even by the middle '20s automobile buyers were by no means getting a "completely equipped" car as it is known today. Engineering ingenuity and intensive research have contributed a multitude of improvements since then which have become essential and which make cars of that vintage obsolete.

Though the average car today costs 23 per cent less than in 1925, the 1940 models you'll see-ride-and-buy are roomier, safer, offer more comfort and smoothness and will give better performance. Take your family to Automobile Row and you'll become more 1940 motor car minded.

All we need is YOU!

WE'VE MADE all the arrangements to give you a hearty welcome during our Open House on Washington's Birthday. We've decorated our showroom especially for the occasion . . . we've planned special displays of new Cadillacs and LaSalles . . . and we've many other pleasant surprises in store for you. In fact, all we need to make our Open House a huge success is you! Be sure to stop in any time during the day or evening. We're certain you'll find it well worth your time.

NOYES BUICK SHOW TO BE BEST EVER

Noyes Buick's Annual Washington's Birthday exposition will be the largest, most instructive and varied display ever put on by this organization.

The display will require 50,000 square feet of floor space on three floors of Noyes Buick's Commonwealth Ave. Building.

Featured attractions will include a Television Show by the Farnsworth Corp. On a stage, flooded with light in modern Hollywood style, visitors and talent may take an active part in this newest wonder of science demonstration.

The Howell Family, Bohemian Glass Blowers from the New York World's Fair, will attract many. An innovation will be a group of wood carving master craftsmen, together with a selected collection of oils and water colors.

These are all accredited to artists of the Massachusetts Art Project, which is under WPA sponsorship.

SHOW MODEL RAILROAD

Highlighting the show is a model railroad which Otto Horeman took 3½ years to design and build. Every detail in the miniature railroad is built to scale, 286 feet of track winding through tunnels, under passes and over bridges.

C. R. Churchill, an Osage Indian, who learned the secret of coloring salt and tracing tribal history, will make countless unusual and beautiful pictures.

The Boston Automobile Club will install voting machines so that visitors may register their opinions on current issues of automotive importance. Camera enthusiasts will enjoy cash prize-winning snapshots in the $20,000 contest conducted during 1939 throughout the nation.

Other interesting displays are a tableau scene, "Spring on Parade," occupying about 800 square feet of floor space; sound motion pictures —drama, romance and thrills, including General Motors "Futurama."

"Nuf Ced" MacGreevy's collection of baseball pictures; vocational and non-vocational shop activities for boys, examples of work in 12 trades all done by pupils of the Boston public schools.

Photos by Dr. Harold E. Edgerton suggests too fast for the human eye to see, taken from bullets and bats at the rate of 1 to 1/10 extraordinary musical instruments, including the world's largest saxaphone; world-wide postage stamp collection, and name plates from 600 horseless carriages.

Scientific wonders will be represented by "The Magic of Foam Sponge," "Effect of Distortion Waves with Motion." "Ship to Shore Telephone," "Windikator," and an "Upholstery Wear-Testing Machine."

WILL RUN THREE DAYS

The automobile show will feature "Cars of Tomorrow"—1940 Buicks in four chassis sizes and 21 body types, together with famous makes of used cars, popularly priced.

An orchestra will play. All are cordially invited. Children must be accompanied by adults.

On the holiday the schedule of hours will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. By contract with past Noyes Buick Expositions the forthcoming event will run three days—several of the exhibits remaining in place through Feb. 24.

Science Will Feature Nash Car Display

Nash Boston, Inc., 1075 Commonwealth ave., will feature an unique and interesting holiday display, consisting of a series of illustrations showing how science is marching on in the field of automotive engineering.

There will also be an out-of-doors demonstration of the famous Nash "Weather Eye" Conditioned Air System, made by car occupants clad in summer attire.

Another feature will be the exhibition of the popular Nash bed-in-car equipment, which saves time and expense for all who tour the wide open spaces.

NEW CHRYSLER CAR WITH SCOTTISH NAME

The C. E. Fay Company, Chrysler-Plymouth distributors, 730 Commonwealth ave., has arranged a gala celebration for Washington's Birthday! Highlighting this affair will be the appearance of a famous musical unit from one of New England's leading radio shows.

All the Chrysler-Plymouth models will be on display including the new Highlander in coupe design, featuring a Scotch motif throughout with plaid upholstery and a supplementary horn that plays "The Campbell's Are Coming." The Automatic top on Convertible models, operated by a dashboard button, and the new air-conditioning unit on all models will be displayed with the method of operation explained in detail.

The outstanding feature of the show will be the display of the Chrysler Fluid drive that completely eliminates gear shifting and adds far greating driving facility. The full Chrysler line includes the Royal and Windsor sixes, the Traveler, New Yorker, Saratoga and Crown Imperial!

DIFFERENT FROM ANY LOW-PRICED CAR YOU'VE EVER SEEN!

"OPEN HOUSE"
FEB. 22, WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

AT YOUR FORD DEALERS! You are cordially invited to come in, see and drive the new 1940 models—learn for yourself their extra value—in style, performance, comfort, economy.

AT THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY PLANT in Somerville, 8:30 A. M., until 4:30 P. M. No motorist should miss this opportunity to see the famous Ford assembly line in full operation! Special guides will explain every step and you may follow the assembly of a Ford V-8 from start to finish.

Band Plans Parade For Dodge, Plymouth

Something new for Washington's Birthday "open house" will be introduced by the Massachusetts Motor Car Co., Dodge and Plymouth distributors at 989 and 1186 Commonwealth ave.

In addition to their usual entertainment of moving pictures, parade and other novel features, the Malden Post 69, American Legion Junior Band, under the direction of Arthur Crosby, will form at 2 p. m at Cottage Farm bridge and parade to 1186 Commonwealth ave. There a band concert will be given from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The band, in their striking orange and blue uniforms, recently won second honors in the State championship contest. They number about 50 pieces, the members ranging from six to 18 years in age. Crosby, who is director of music in the Malden schools, deserves great credit for the excellent drill work and music furnished by these youthful musicians. No one should miss this colorful and unusual spectacle.

The new 1940 Dodge and Plymouth cars in a variety of beautiful colors and models will be displayed at the salesrooms, 989 Commonwealth ave., which have been attractively decorated with spring flowers and vines. On the second floor, interested shoppers will find an exceptionally fine array of used cars in most makes and models, priced exceptionally low for this special occasion.

Dodge commercial cars and trucks, on display at 1186 Commonwealth ave., will feature the new Dodge Diesel truck which operates at less than one cent per mile for fuel oil. Truckmen and business proprietors will be particularly interested in this remarkable new money-saving unit. Other Dodge models from ½ to three-ton capacity will be displayed.

The Massachusetts Motor Car Company invites all to attend the free moving picture entertainment and the band concert. And don't miss the parade!

Democrat Scores 8-to-1 New York Win

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Elected by an 8 to 1 sweep over his Republican opponent, former Magistrate Walter A. Lynch, Democrat, today succeeded the late Rep. Edward W. Curley as Congressman from the 22d New York district.

Lynch carried the special election to fill the vacancy by a vote of 8246 against 1010 for Arthur D. Fisher, Republican.

DISPLAY 3 NEW FORD MODELS

Following their custom of many years standing, Ford dealers of this territory will co-operate in holding "Open House" for motorists on Washington's Birthday. Local motorists are invited to visit Ford dealers' showrooms to see the new Ford V-8, Mercury 8, and Lincoln Zephyr V-12 motor cars for 1940.

Motorists are also invited to drive these cars as guests of Ford dealers. In extending this invitation to visit them during "Open House," Ford dealers believe that such a visit will be of great interest to motorists.

"There are many new and important improvements in the new Ford, Mercury and Lincoln-Zephyr cars," local dealers said, "and we believe every motorist owes it to himself to see just how much these improvements have advanced motoring pleasure and comfort.

GET HEAVY MILEAGE

"Also, we should like local motorists to check up on the remarkable gasoline economy of these quality Ford cars. In the recent Gilmore-Yosemite economy run, for example, an 85 h. p. Ford V-8 proved better for gasoline economy than either leading low-priced "six," while the Mercury and Lincoln-Zephyr cars placed first in their price divisions with averages of 23.76 and 19.9 miles per gallon, respectively.

Among the many improvements in the new Ford cars, it was pointed out, are new finger-tip gear shift on steering post new, softer springs, increased roominess and comfort, and new front window ventilation control.

NEW MERCURY ROOMY

The new Mercury cars have also been given important improvements in roominess and comfort, dealers said. This car, announced in the fall of 1938, became the only car in recent automobile history to become a "best seller" within three months of its announcement.

The Lincoln-Zephyr V-12, famous as "the only car of its kind in the world," brings new beauty and luxury to the medium price class, dealers said. This car has already been hailed as one of the greatest influences on style in the automobile industry.

Throng to See Big Display By Chevrolet

Commonwealth Chevrolet Company is planning an extensive program for Washington's Birthday "Open House," Robert B. Kayser, president of the company, says.

The spacious showrooms, located at 1065 Commonwealth ave., have been appropriately decorated in anticipation of the record-breaking crowds expected to view the 1940 Chevrolet models.

In addition to the complete line of passenger cars and trucks, the two new convertible models, which are available now in an array of colors and trims, will be exhibited as well as the new 1940 beach wagon.

2-Tone Hudsons Put on Display

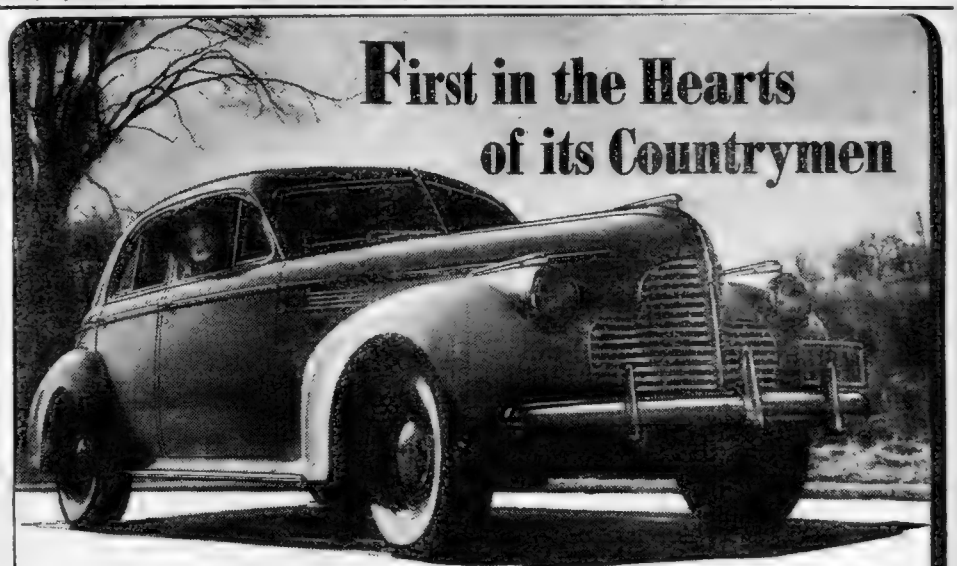
The Henley-Kimball Company, 1299 Boylston st., anticipating Washington's Birthday, has prepared an elaborate display claimed to represent the finest it has ever offered in the 30-year history of this well-known Hudson distributorship.

Hudson dealers will have a special display of cars in two-tone colors on Washington's Birthday.

These two-tone colors are very harmonious, such as Radiant Gray vs. Queen's Gray, Jay Blue vs. Queen's Gray, and many other combinations.

2 CLIPPERS HOP OFF

LISBON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Two transatlantic clipper planes took off for the United States today after being delayed here by bad weather since Feb. 5 and Feb. 16.



First in the Hearts of its Countrymen

YOU don't have to look farther than the nearest parking lot to see how the public has taken to this 1940 Buick.

Although it is not the largest seller, polls of public opinion mark it clearly as the car "first in the hearts of its countrymen."

On general appearance, for instance, Buick gets better than a 19% vote as best looking, to 11% for the Number Two car.

Its thrifty Dynaflash power plant, now balanced after assembly, gives it twice as many Best-of-the-Bunch votes as any other, as does its chassis construction.

With soft and easy coil springs all around it's only natural that some two and a half times as many people pick Buick as best for ride. And a two to one vote on room is understandable in view of the SUPER'S close-to-five-feet front seat.

But the really satisfying thing to us is the way people size up Buick's value.

Half again as many people pick Buick as best buy as pick any other. And three out of five who rate Buick No. 1 say it's the value that gives it the edge.

So it's not surprising when polls show more people wanting Buick than want any other car — and when Buick's midwinter sales hit new peaks.

And shouldn't that, in turn, logically suggest: better get yours now — and be sure of having it?

4 NEW CARS TO BE SHOWN HERE BY CADILLAC COMPANY

A. L. Danforth, president of the Cadillac Automobile Company of Boston, announces the World Premiere of four new cars, two LaSalles and two Cadillacs, which will be shown here Washington's Birthday for the first time in any city.

To meet an insistent and ever increasing demand for convertible body styles, Cadillac engineers have developed two ultra smart and distinctive bodies—a convertible coupe and a convertible sedan.

FIRST DISPLAY HERE

These new models have not been publicly announced by the Cadillac Motor Car Division of Detroit, but Mr. Danforth was successful in having the factory send the first of these to Boston by express for this annual Recognition Day Display.

In addition to their advanced styling, entirely new methods of leather upholstery trim is used—many of them in two color effects never before seen.

Instrument panels are colored to match the preponminant tone of the upholstery as are the carpets in front and rear.

Almost as startling are the new series of Fleetwood cars which will be known as the Cadillac Fleetwood Series 72. This is a companion car to the famous Cadillac Fleetwood Series 75 which it supplements and is offered to those who wish the newest in streamlined, aero-dynamic body styles with very wide front seats not commonly found in the larger body types.

HAS NEW DRIVE

Jules Olivier, who is the new body designer and stylist for the Cadillac-LaSalle Corporation, is responsible for the very pleasing effects in these bodies and has worked so skillfully with them that they can be offered at substantially lower prices than the Cadillac Fleetwood Series 75.

The exhibit of the standard LaSalle Series 50 line will create considerable comment as the design of these bodies lends itself particularly well to some very harmonious and different two-tone combinations.

Featured in the Washington Birthday exhibit will be a display of the latest Oldsmobiles and of special interest is one of the new Eight Cylinder Series 90 Sedans equipped with the unique Hydra-Matic drive and which will be available to those who would like to ride in it throughout the day.

The Hydra-Matic drive is one of the most important engineering developments in the automotive industry and is sure to result in many new drivers who hitherto heve been unable to drive cars with the conventional clutch and transmission.

MAKES DRIVING EASY

In the Hydra-Matic drive the clutch is done away with altogether. To operate the new Oldsmobile with the Hydra-Matic transmission the driver has no clutch to press, no gears to shift.

He merely moves a lever once when starting up and no other operation by the driver is necessary except that of the right foot on the accelerator for all forward speeds.

The Used Car Division has always put on a masterful display of completely reconditioned used cars. On the second floor of the building will be found the most outstanding used car exhibits Cadillac has ever shown. For several weeks past the entire personnel of the used car department have been busy reconditioning, sanitizing and beautifying these used cars for this special display.

Contrary to usual practice the "bargain basement" is on the third floor and will have low priced cars from $75 to $250.

Music in the most entertaining manner will be played on the newest Hammond Organ by Miss Jean Wilkins who is heard nightly in the Riviere Lounge at the Hotel Sheraton.

Visitors are invited to make a tour of the building and will be shown through the Cadillac-LaSalle and Oldsmobile service stations by competent and efficient guides. The hours will be from 9 a. m., until 6 p. m.

De Soto, Plymouth Show To Feature Grid Film

Lawton-Hevessey Company, distributors of the DeSoto and Plymouth Motor Cars, have obtained a 1600-foot film of the Sugar Bowl struggle between Texas A & M and Tulane football teams at New Orleans last January 1st.

This picture which includes all the track and field events that preceded the classic will be shown continuously from 11 a. m. until 4 p. m. during the Washington's Birthday Open House at 890 Commonwealth ave.

The showroom has been attractively decorated with flags, bunting and flowers in readiness of the crowds.

On display will be the $10,000 DeSoto Cutaway Chassis which has just arrived from the DeSoto factory in Detroit. A complete line of DeSoto and Plymouth cars, including a beautiful new station wagon and several new convertible models, will be exhibited.

Specially selected group of late models, low-mileage used cars will be offered for inspection at greatly reduced prices.

PHEASANT INCIDENT

GREELEY, Col. (AP)—A passenger train, traveling 80 miles an hour, collided head-on with a phasant hen flying in the opposite direction. The hen crashed through the headlight lens and pammed into the concave headlamp.

Willys Motors Gives 3-Year Guarantee

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 21—The 100,000 mile or three-year guarantee recently announced by Joseph W. Frazer, president of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., on its products has been extended to commercial vehicles as well.

"Since the announcement of this unusual guarantee, an indication of confidence heretofore unknown in the automobile field, dealers in all sections of the country have been deluged with inquiries from commercial car buyers," said Mr. Frazer.

"We want to make it clear that this factory warranty includes every product that leaves the gate of our plant."

Motor Car Co. to Be Host At Holiday Fashion Show

This year Motor Car Company of New England at Pontiac Village is planning an unusual gala opening on Washington's birthday anniversary.

Every department in the 35,000 square feet of floor area will be gaily decorated for the day's festivities.

"Fashions for Fun" will be presented by Louise Van Everen, well-known fashion consultant. In conjunction with the models from the Academie Moderne" school for models, the Pi Eta Club of Harvard will render songs from the forthcoming hit, "Say the Word," which Mrs. Van Everen is costuming.

The Fashion Show includes three of this year's charming deb-models, the Misses Betty Lovejoy, Beverly Pratt and Virginia Lindsey, who will present the latest in spring modes.

PUBLIC INVITED

Music will be furnished all day by the Allison Gypsy Ensemble—a quintette of unusually talented and attractive girls well known to radio audiences.

Dwight T. Hersey, vice-president and general manager, extends a cordial invitation to attend this gay automotive day festivity on Commonwealth ave.

William J. Sullivan, sales manager, new car department, will hold forth at 860 Commonwealth ave. where the new Pontiacs are on display.

George A. Ward, used car manager, will be at the showrooms at 850, where an unusual dispay of real bargains in used cars will be shown to the public for the first time on Washington's Birthday.

This 26 year old concern cordially invites the public to attend this celebration on Washington's Birthday and promises a real treat in store

Display Model Of 'Queen Mary'

Visitors at the showroom of Morley Motors, Inc., 870 Commonwealth avenue, on Washington's Birthday, will see on display a miniature of the fastest and most modern ship of the age, "Queen Mary."

Music will be furnished by Art Rubin, well known orchestra leader of Boston, and there will be novelty entertainment by the Montana Ranch Boys.

There will also be an exhibition of paintings from the Robert C. Vose Galleries of Boston, which will include some of the world's finest artists. These paintings will provide an unusually fine treat to art lovers.

A complete line of 1940 Studebaker models will be on display with new and attractive color combinations. Thousands of invitations have been issued for the display.

Smiles, Turns Other Cheek

PUEBLO, Col. (AP)—A woman watched from the window of her mountain cabin as a carload of ladies from the city overran her property and began gathering autumn leaves, breaking limbs from aspen trees, bushes and shrubbery.

"Ladies, do you know that some of those leaves you have gathered are poison ivy?" she asked.

And she wasn't footing. She invited the trespassers to come inside and wash their hands and faces with strong soap, supposed to be an antidote for poison ivy.

EX-GOV. FULLER WILL ACT AS PACKARD HOST HERE

Ex-Governor Alvin T. Fuller will act as host to Packard's many friends on its annual "open house," which he inaugurated when a young man and sold bicycles in a tiny Malden shop. On Washington's Birthday thousands annually visit Packard's showroom to admire famous paintings, tapestries and other priceless art treasures.

Mr. Fuller is exhibiting five beautiful paintings by Ignacio Zuloaga, the great Spanish artist. They are "Gypsy Dance," a group of Spanish dancers; "Toledo," an enchanting town; "Augustina La Gitana," Spanish girl in lace mantilla; "Basque Peasant," considered his masterpiece by Zuloaga; "Ma Cousine Candida," Spanish girl with Segovia background.

Also, finest examples in existence of 17th century Brussels tapestries, in a story of Venus and Adonis. Wilfred Tremle, will play selections on the Hammond electric organ from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. and 2 to 5 p. m.

Musical Ghost Is Discovered

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Hopkinsville police have marked down the mystery of the "haunted music machine in a local tavern as solved—by the usual electrical short circuit.

Three times within two weeks the nickel music box began playing in the middle of the night. Apparently no one was in the building and no nickel in the slot.

Leland Atkinson, the owner, who lives in an adjoining building, asked the aid of police after hearing the music late at night.

Ford Opens Huge Plant to Public View

In co-operation with "open house," which all Ford dealers are holding in celebration of Washington's Birthday, the Somerville plant of the Ford Motor Company, will be open to the public between 8:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m.

All motorists are invited to see New England's only automobile plant in full operation.

Guides will explain each stage in the assembly of Ford automobiles, and visitors will watch the assembly of Ford cars from bare chassis to the finished product. The plant is one of the most interesting sights in New England.

The Somerville plant of the Ford Motor Co. is not only interesting to the visitor, but is also a very important factor in the industrial life in New England.

The plant, occupying many acres of land, was visited by between 11,000 and 12,000 persons in 1939. Last year many more thousands visited the plant to watch the famous Ford assembly line in action.

Farley Seen Second Choice in R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 21 (AP)—Senator Theodore Francis Green, Democrat, R. I., staunch New Dealer, said today it is his "impression" that, after President Roosevelt, Rhode Island's first choice for Democratic candidate for President would be Postmaster General Farley.

'BATTLE OF BANDS' HERE FEB. 29 TO AID FINN RELIEF

In an effort to raise funds for the Finnish Relief Fund a battle of music featuring Ben Bernie "and all the lads" versus Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra will be staged Thursday, Feb. 29 at Boston Garden.

The affair is under sponsorship of the theatrical ball committee of the Finnish Relief Fund.

Besides the battle of music the committee have completed plans for the staging of a beauty contest in which pretty Bay State girls will vie for the honor of "The Bachelor Gird of 1940." A complete Easter wardrobe is the prize.

Entries for this event may be made at the committee's headquarters, 293 Washington st., city.

Other events include "The Parade of Dances," in which dances from the gay nineties down to the present conga rage will be depicted.

Stage, screen and radio stars will also appear in person to add to the gayety of the affair. Various groups of Finnish organizations dressed in native costumes will perform during the evening.

Jury Breaks Will Of Patrick F. Shea

Broken by a Suffolk County jury today was the will of the late Patrick F. Shea, Dorchester truckman, after the jury found Shea's second wife, Mrs. Margaret Shea, exerted undue influence.

Mrs. Mary A. Shea Magoun, step daughter of Mrs. Shea, contested the will which estimated the estate at $2500 and includes a $[illegible],000 suit instituted by the estate.

4 Promotions By Chevrolet

DETROIT, Feb. 21—Four major promotions in the Chevrolet sales department were announced today by W. E. Holler, general sales manager.

W. G. Lewellen, as [illegible] general sales manager in charge of used cars in the western half of the United States, becomes assistant general sales manager in charge of new cars in the western half, succeeding Felix Dorn, Jr., who [illegible] appointment as general manager of the General Motors [illegible] division was announced yesterday.

Mr. Lewellen's former post is filled by E. A. Nance [illegible] in charge of used cars in the western half of the United States, and K. M. Chase, [illegible] of the company's Atlanta, Ga., region, is transferred to Detroit and promoted to assistant general sales manager in charge of used cars in the western half.

The post vacated by Mr. Chase in New York is filled by W. J. Graveson, who since March, 1937, has been assistant regional manager of the Flint region in charge of used cars. All four of the new appointees are Chevrolet veterans.

Business Index Slides Lower

The weekly index of business activity continues to slide lower . . . A Pollyanaish view calls for cheer on the basis it is still well above comparable levels of one and two years ago . . . Such hollow optimism isn't necessary . . .

ESSENCE . . . Of the decline is lowered steel and auto outputs . . . And in neither instance are fundamental trends disheartening . . . Rather do they suggest nearby bottoms . . . This week the steel rate dropped much less sharply . . . Finished prices are holding well . . . European buying is freely forecast . . . Softer scrap prices is the sole unfavorable note . . . As for the motor industry production is still high, although down from the peak . . . But it is normal seasonal development many expect will shortly be followed by a spurt in activity . . .

• • •

RECENT . . . Happenings contributing to hopeful spring forecasts are the strength in copper prices . . . And the continued expectation of good construction figures . . . The first bespeaks a sound inventory position in a most important heavy industry raw material . . . The second a good flow of orders for important durable goods items . . . All told if February runs out its string without business sliding much further the situation will be quite satisfactory . . .

• • •

TRADERS . . . In the over-the-counter securities market have taken a long step toward self-regulation . . . Through the National Association of Security Dealers . . . Because it concerns the handling of trade practice complaints . . . The machinery set up is designed to take care of controversies between members and their customers . . . It will afford investors dealing in the unlisted markets with members protection comparable to that provided by stock exchanges . . . Once a complaint is filed, N. A. S. D. rules call for a hearing before a local or district business conduct Committee . . . Speedy and just determination of complaints is the association's principal aim . . .

• • •

THE COMMITTEE . . . For this, district 14, area is composed of . . . Waldo S. Kendall, Minot, Kendall & Co., Inc. . . . Who will serve as chairman . . . B. Earle Appleton, Pearson Erhard & Co., Inc. . . . Kenneth S. May, Arthur Perry & Co., Inc. . . . Joseph T. Walker, Jr., Hornblower & Weeks . . . William H. Potter, Jr., First Boston Corp. . . . All of Boston . . . Alwyn M. Rees, Morton, Hall & Rounds, Inc., Lewiston . . . A Chester Snow, Richardson & Clark, Providence . . . District 14 embraces all N. E. excepting Connecticut . . .

THE MARKET . . . Is finally cashing in on some of the good things in the news . . . Coppers have now joined steels as groups favored by favorable developments . . . While commodity issues are showing signs of joining them . . . Motors can easily come in a bit later . . . Which would give a large slice of listed stocks bona fide rallying reasons . . . In such a way are upturns fashioned out of news . . . Usually when least expected . . . While there is hardly justification for rampant bullishness there is reason for following the upturn carefully . . . We do not suggest relinquishing position taken on advice here over a week ago.

TRADING . . . Policy from now on should be a bit on the cautious side . . . Buying had best limited to reactionary periods . . . And a steady eye kept on the news developments noted . . . Then there will not be any danger of buying at top levels . . . And in the event cheering news fades out all positions can be speedily dumped overboard . . . The trend indicator we occasionally mention still suggests higher prices . . . But it is not overly enthusiastic . . .

BITS O' GOSSIP . . . American Airlines boosters think a conservative estimate of per share earnings for 1940 is $4 . . . Kennedy's, Inc. is expected to show around $1.50 per share for 1939 . . . While Van Norman Machine Tool is down for about $2.65 for last year . . . Bullard's backlog is currently the largest in the company's history, according to what we hear . . . And a considerable portion is credited to foreign orders . . . Menasco may earn as much as 65 cents a share in the opinion of those who follow its fortunes rather closely . . . Everything considered we can not help but notice earnings estimates for this year are holding at optimistic levels. Something deep, underlying gloom would banish fast . . .

Sun Life Pays 90 Million

The Sun Life of Canada paid nearly $30,000,000 to United States policyholders during 1939, out of a total of $90,000,000, bringing the total of benefits paid since the first policy was issued in 1871 to $1,295,000,000. The financial statement of the company was presented by Arthur B. Wood, president of the company, at the 60th annual meeting held in Montreal, Tuesday. Assets of the company were shown to have increased by $39,000,000 during 1939 and now stand at $914,000,000, an all-time high. Incidentally, a large proportion of this sum is invested in the United States.

The normal earnings of the company for the year were slightly more than $24,000,000, the highest in the history of the Sun Life. Death and disability payments during the year exceeded $26,500,000, annuity and matured endowments came to $31,000,000, while $14,000,000 was disbursed in dividends paid to policyholders. Altogether $65,000,000 were paid out during the year to living policyholders.

The total amount of life assurance now on the books has reached $2,938,000,000. In new business, $194,000,000 was placed on the books during the past year, an increase over 1938. The premium income for the year totalled almost $114,000,000 which was an increase over the previous year. There also was an increase in investment income and total receipts, and these items amounted to $33,500,000 and $166,000,000, respectively. Disbursements were approximately $118,000,000.

In connection with the company's operations in the United States, it is a matter of interest to learn that the Sun Life maintains perpetual trusts within the United States for the sole protection of its United States policyholders and policies issued in the United States are payable in United States currency. The Sun Life of Canada now has over 1,000,000 policyholders, and while its operations are world wide, by far the largest part of its business is secured in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Stock Prices Score Gains In Slow Trade

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Stocks moved haltingly over an uneven, but generally higher road today.

Slightly rising shares included Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, United Aircraft, Hall Print. g, Twin Coach, American Telephone, Martin, Douglas and U. S. Rubber.

Bonds and commodities were uneven in thin dealings. Foreign bourses were fairly steady with American stocks displaying firm tendencies.

Although General Motors sold 60,000 shares of Bendix common to four investment trusts, it was understood the motor company had no intention of seriously weakening its power in the management of Bendix.

The current sharp improvement in copper sales and repots of new inquiries from abroad for steel were interpreted by seval Wall Street commentators as "straws in the wind" of market sentiment, leading to yesterday's rise in steel and metal stocks and in the price of wheat.

Although the financial district in part regards the British government's mobilization of 60 British-held American stocks as beneficial to the orderly liquidation of such securities, the view was expressed by some that British holders of stocks not on the original list might speed their selling in anticipation of further sequestration.

T. J. Carlyle Gifford, chairman of the Scottish Investment Trust Co., Ltd., of Edinburgh, who represents the British treasury in the United States, is engaged at present in making his plans for the sales of the mobilized stocks. Similar action to mobilize her nationals holdings of American securities was expected by Australia.

Markets to Close

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Market followers will turn their attention to exchanges in Canada and abroad tomorrow when financial and commodity markets throughout the United States suspend trading for Washington's Birthday.

General Mills Officers Greet N. E. Owners

An experiment aimed at developing better understanding between the stockholders, or owners, of a business and its management was tried for the first time in Boston yesterday, when nearly 150 stockholders of General Mills, Inc., met informally with some of its officers at the Hotel Statler.

The plan, conceived by James F. Bell, chairman of the board of General Mills, who presided at yesterday's session, was based on the belief that the owners of the business should know more about how it is operated and that the management should know more about the desires of the stockholders to carry out better their stewardship.

Since it was impossible for many stockholders to attend the annual meeting in Wilmington, Del., Bell advanced the idea of having officers of the company tour the country in a series of smaller, more informal meetings.

Meetings had been held in five cities throughout the nation prior to yesterday's meeting, and company officials have found the plan so successful they intend to hold such sessions in 15 key cities every year.

"We think we have opened the approach to a new relationship between industry and ownership which we hope will arouse public consciousness to some of the problems which industry faces," Bell told the group.

"We hope we have initiated something which other companies will take up and thus awaken in stockholders a demand to know about the affairs of the business they own."

TAX GRAB TAKING TOLL ON INDUSTRY

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service Economic Commentator

Superior tools and more and better power technology heighten the earning power of American workers and make their wages the highest in the world.

Muddleheaded politics which interferes with continuous investment in new and additional industrial equipment will ultimately impair this magnificent mechanism which provides the American people with more and better goods.

Likewise, grasping government, which is taking an increasing ratio of the product of industry to pay for governmental services, is competing with labor for the fruits of industry.

For example, according to data presented by H. A. Baker, president of the American Can Co., if that corporation had been free of all taxes last year, it would have had available for additional wages a sum equal to $1.54 a day for each worker.

Likewise, rising taxes also compete with the owners for participation in the rewards of successful business operations. This corporation paid in total taxes last year a sum equivalent to $3.51 per share on common stock outstanding.

In other words, if the corporation had been wholly tax exempt, it would have had available for possible distribution to stockholders nearly double the amount of dividends paid out.

Expressed in another way, the corporation, if it had not been incidentally engaged in the business of acting as tax collector for government, could have given their customers a discount of $8,685,957 last year on their purchases.

The specific facts about one corporation are cited because they are representative—not exceptional. Lest the man on the street think that this subject is simply the concern of big business, the bearing of taxes on wages, dividends, and the cost of goods is thus revealed.

Theorists often dream about export bonanzas resulting from getting the Asiatics to consume goods on the American level.

The University of Hawaii, in publishing a bulletin on this subject emphasizes the extent that Oriental philosophers and religious leaders stress renunciation, instead of better living. Nations, dominated by teachings that it is virtuous to go without, are not good markets for more and better goods.

General Robert E. Wood, chairman of Sears Roebuck & Company, joins a score of other business executives in writing a new volume entitled, "The New Outlook in Business."

General Wood draws pessimistic conclusions, which this writer deems unwarranted, from the retardation in the rate of population growth in the United States. But, irrespective of this, as a merchant, surveying the sales possibilities in various segments of the country, General Wood concludes that Dixie has the best prospects.

U. S. Increases China Exports

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Commerce Department said today that exports to China increased from $34,719,000 in 1938 to $55,809,000 in 1939, while shipments to Japan declined from $239,662,000 in 1938 to $231,405,000 in 1939.

Imports from Japan increased from $126,762,000 in 1938 to $161,196,000 in 1939 but the department said that the higher total last year was due primarily to sharply increased prices of raw silk. Imports from China increased from $47,189,000 in 1938 to $61,700,000 in 1939.

The United States sold more scrap iron, copper and metal-working machinery to Japan in 1939 than in 1938 but less cotton, petroleum, automotive products and airplanes.

Besides buying more silk from Japan last year, the United States increased purchases of tuna fish, crab meat, tea, cotton cloth and chinaware.

G.O.P. Leaders Outsmart New Dealers

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN
Special to the Boston Evening American

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—The Republican party has turned the tables on Mr. Roosevelt, out-smarted the New Deal and taken the aggressive in the 1940 campaign.

This is no means achievement for a party organization which only two months ago or so was on the run, permeated with defeatism, and more than half inclined to fall in with the President's foxy suggestion that both national conventions be held at a late date, on the grounds that under the existing circumstances—meaning the war in Europe—it would be better to have only a brief political campaign in the United States this year.

That suggestion was wholly in the interest of the third-term draft movement in support of the perpetuation of Roosevelt ism and the New Deal.

Nevertheless the Republicans almost walked into the trap, and some of the less far-sighted leaders of the party in Congress, and around national headquarters, actually endorsed it.

TRAP AVOIDED

To the good sense of National Chairman Hamilton, and a return to realism by party leaders, is to be attributed the fact that this trap was avoided.

The little game of strategy within the Democratic national committee, whereby the Republicans were to be forced to hold their convention first, resulted two weeks ago in the transfer to the capable hands of National Chairman Farley of the power to name the Democratic convention date.

New Dealers who thought that Jim would hold off to a very late date, calling the convention in August, or even in September as some of them demanded, have been outsmarted by the canny national chairman.

Mr. Farley in naming July 15 for the opening of the Democratic convention, has selected a comparatively early date.

When he said that but for the fact that delegates from remote places thus would have been obliged to be traveling on the Fourth of July he would have made July 8 the day, he disclosed that he is by no means playing any draft-Roosevelt game.

WAS F. D. CONSULTED?

The longer the Democratic convention could be delayed, the better would have been the President's chance for the nomination. A new candidate could not have made a campaign in a brief time.

With the exception of 1884 there has never been a Democratic ticket elected that was nominated after July 4.

GEORGE WASHINGTON, whose two hundred and eighth birthday anniversary we celebrate tomorrow, was truly "The Father of His Country."

The inspiring monuments raised to his memory in Boston, on South Dakota's Mt. Rushmore and in almost every city and State are not his real monuments.

This country, reaching from ocean to ocean, sustaining, protecting and defending one hundred and thirty million people—THAT is George Washington's real monument.

MT. RUSHMORE
Washington Monument

More than any other American, Washington set the stamp of his personality on the United States.

His statesmanship was the greatest single influence on the character of the Americans who were born after him.

He could have been king. He could have been dictator. He could have been a "perpetual" President, retiring only with death.

But he chose to be a democratic American.

When the new country was created, Washington saw clearly that he had a JOB to do—one of the biggest and most important ever undertaken by any man—and he saw it through to a successful and glorious end.

Then, like Cincinnatus of old, he went back to his plow, thereby establishing a precedent that has become the nation's unwritten law restricting every occupant of the White House to no more than two terms.

After Washington died, Napoleon Bonaparte ordered all flags and standards draped with crepe for ten days. England's ships put their flags at half mast, generously recognizing the greatness of one who had taken an empire from the crown.

That universal respect still endures, undimmed by time.

Today, with so much of the world saddened by war, aggression and tyranny, the name of Washington stands out as a challenge to political egotism, deception and charlatanry.

Let us look at his accomplishments and be grateful that America, in the hour of need, developed such a man.

Had there been no George Washington, there would be no United States or no country to cherish democracy when all others are abandoning it.

SELF-EXPOSED! The American Youth Congress, which has long harbored Communistic elements and admitted it, has now thoroughly proved its own Communistic character.

Communists completely dominated its recent sessions in Washington, to the extent of denying a voice to their opponents and even to the extent of insulting the President of the United States and Mrs. Roosevelt, who had been previously and mistakenly the sympathetic friends of the organization.

Senator Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina summarized the matter according to general public understanding when he said:

"What happens here within a stone's throw from the point where we now sit?

"Two American youths defending the American form of government, two courageous young men of our own land preaching the doctrines of our sort of government, were kicked bodily out on their ears by the young Communists of America—a shame and an outrage."

Without intending to do so, the Communists who control the American Youth Congress have done the country a valuable service.

By their own actions, they have been stripped of all their pretensions that they are trying to conduct an American organization which tolerates Communists in the interest of democracy and free speech.

The truth is that they are conducting a Communist organization which does not tolerate free speech nor even tolerate Americanism.

According to an AP dispatch from Bethlehem, Pa., a woman, now living in Pittsburgh, mailed to City Treasurer Earl E. Schaeefer, $6.04 to cover unpaid personal property taxes. That was $4.53 too much, so Schaeefer returned the difference.

Back came the check and a note declaring, "I feel that I owe it to the city."

Massachusetts would solve that woman's problem.

Here, nobody has to insist that the government take money. It is the government that insists and says, "Get it up."

The Kite

THE kite, as if a living thing . . . soars upward, tugging at its string . . . With the four winds it likes to play . . . wishing that it could get away . . . And as for liberty it strives . . . it plunges and takes headlong dives . . . becomes entangled on a wire . . . or else impaled on a church spire . . . If not controlled, it comes to grief . . . and its career is all too brief.

We too would often skyward climb . . . attempting to scale heights sublime . . . but, lacking ties to earth, we might . . . encounter trouble, like the kite.

Human Side of News -:- By EDWIN C. HILL

A FIRST-CLASS human being has gone to his reward, active up until almost the last breath he ever drew, the Very Reverend Paul James Francis, founder and father-general of the Roman Catholic Order of the Atonement and, as such, head of one of the most interesting benevolent institutions in all the United States, St. Christopher Inn, at Graymoor in the Hudson, 50 miles north of New York City.

You may have heard Father Paul on the radio on a Sunday night, when he was dramatizing the life of one of the saints, but you may not have been aware of what he has been doing for the homeless and the penniless for more than 20 years.

WELCOME, STRANGER!
Graymoor Door Always Open

TO SUM it up in mere figures, he gave food and a roof over their heads to more than 150,000 desperately needy men, of all faiths, and no questions asked. To be hungry and homeless was enough for Father Paul.

Coming from Maryland, where he was born in Kent County, he became a minister of the Episcopal Church in 1885 and embraced Catholicism in 1910. He started his Franciscan Friars of the Atonement with 17 members in a small house. There is now a membership of 2400, a retreat covering 600 acres at Graymoor, together with many branches and houses elsewhere in this nation.

Graymoor and St. Christopher's Inn are, I believe, unique in America. The door of the inn stands open at all hours and in all weathers, at no price, to men of every class, color and creed. One thing only is demanded of every wayfarer who asks there for a lodging for the night: He shall be in need of the shelter, food and comfort which that inn provides.

The guests who seek that inn want no advertisement to bring them to its door. All the roads of America lead there.

How many men have followed the pointing arrow up the steep hillside to the door of St. Christopher's Inn is indicated by the records one may read there—1,500,000 meals, 450,000 nights' lodgings in 12 years.

The inn itself is built in the Spanish mission style. That building is only three years old, it was erected to replace the inn built in 1927, which had become too small for the guests who knocked on its door. The reception room walls are painted with scenes from the life of St. Francis, "the poor man of Assisi," the work of one of the inn's guests.

ACTUALLY, not a guest comes to that inn who is not in need of comfort. And that comfort is represented not merely by hot food and a clean bed, which are needs of the body only. Men who have tasted defeat and who know no hope cannot be restored by a bowl of soup and a bath. These things help but do not cure.

Hospitality is one of the rules of the Order of St. Francis. Accordingly, the door of the refuge is never shut. Whoever knocks there and asks for food and lodging in the name of Christ is made welcome. No building in America reflects more Christian cheer.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- -:- MY DAY

GOLDEN BEACH, Fla., Feb. 21—Here I am installed in a very comfortable house on Golden Beach, in Florida, and our holiday has already begun. The one engagement I had before arrival was with the press, and they were all here when I arrived. So, almost before I had really looked over the house, the photographers had their field day, and the reporters asked all their questions.

Now, they are gone, and from now on nothing has to be done. I should qualify that a bit, for this column must be written, for if I didn't write it, I'd feel something was missing.

FIRST LADY'S WINTER VACATION HOME
"Spending a Holiday Is Really a Very Nice Feeling"

ALSO, the mail must be attended to every day. So far as social engagements are concerned, or duties of any kind, they are wiped off my books during my stay here.

Spending a holiday is really a very nice feeling, but not having experienced it very often in my life, it makes me feel a bit guilty and I wonder if something won't happen which will necessitate my return to the more normal existence of doing things which have to be done. In any case, I am going to enjoy every day as we live it.

Yesterday afternoon, the exercises at the Bethune-Cookman College were a little disturbed by a heavy shower of rain and a great many people left their seats outside and stood inside the auditorium. It was surprising to me how many representatives there were from other schools and colleges to bring Mrs. Bethune congratulations on her work and good wishes for the future.

Until I went over the plant, I never realized what a really dramatic achievement this junior college is. It ministers to the needs of 100,000 Negroes from Daytona south, and it takes 250 students. The object is to train leaders who will return to their communities and serve their people in whatever line of activity they have chosen as a life work.

Thirty-five years ago, Mrs. Bethune began with five little girls. The first land was bought with the first five dollars earned. This land up to that time had been part of the city dump in a portion of the city known as "Hell's Hole."

Like all other colleges, they still need a great deal—a library building, for instance, and many more books. From this small library in Bethune-Cookman College, books are sent traveling around in the various rural districts of the vicinity.

They need a substantial endowment fund, a building where better shop work can be done, for at present the quarters are too small.

AVIATRIX TO SEEK NEW RECORD

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Dick Merrill: Jacqueline Cochran, the aviatrix, is waiting in Los Angeles now for suitable weather—for a crack at the world's 2000-metre speed record...Freddie Bartholomew: If you were home in England now, you'd be getting your schooling via radio. The BBC is broadcasting school instructions to all the children who were evacuated...Alexander Woollcott: Norman Krasna attended your premiere of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," saw Sam Goldwyn there and whispered "Hello, Mr. Goldwyn"..."Why so quiet?" asked Goldwyn. "Who's listening?"..."I'd say Hello to you louder," replied Krasna, "except that I hear you were going out of business."

KATHARINE CORNELL

SAM BEHRMAN: Margalo Gilmore, who is touring with Katharine Cornell in your play, "No Time for Comedy," flew in for the week-end to visit her family. She's a bit weary of touring, and doesn't envy Miss Cornell her stardom. "Overnight jumps, always traveling, traveling, traveling," sighed Miss Gilmore. "I don't want to be a star. What a price to pay—so that the people of Texas will have heard of you"...Cordell Hull: Larry Adler received a censored letter from Australia, but was able to decipher the sentence which the censor had obliterated. It read: "Do you think America would enter the war if we paid our debt?"

LEFKE BUCHALTER: Judge Knox, who presided at your Federal trial, and who sentenced you after conviction, is writing a book about his experience as a prosecutor...F. D. R.: The War Department has asked all Federal department heads to detail their "Military Experience." It's merely routine, however...Gertrude Lawrence: John Golden has heard that the Will Hays office is preparing to censor "Susan and God," the show in which you were starred last year. Golden's distinguishment along Broadway includes a reputation for producing the cleanest plays.

AUGUST HECKSCHER: Your physician, Dr. Eugene Marcovici, just delivered a paper for the Archives of Internal Medicine—advising men who are over 50 to refrain from eating meat, if they want to live long...Frances Perkins: Your aide, Isidor Lubin, the New Deal Statistician, has been consulting many specialists since the Fall. Last week he went to Johns Hopkins for an exhaustive analysis and told the examiners of his tiring trips to all these doctors. The report read: "There's nothing wrong with you. You're just tired.'

James Roosevelt

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21 James Roosevelt isn't letting any grass grow under his feet in lining up his picture schedule. Today he signed Horace Heidt and his Musical Knights, the swing kings appearing locally, to headline his second picture "The Pot of Gold." Yes, this is the same "Pot of Gold" radio program that has been keeping your ear glued to the radio Tuesday nights waiting for a fortune to drop in your lap via the telephone.

Even though the show is scheduled to go off the ether soon, Jimmy thinks the idea suggests human interest possibilities about a family who became unexpected heirs. In fact he describes the yarn as a human interest story set to music. But first young Roosevelt will sponsor "The Fat."

LOLA LANE

THERE IS NO more colorful director in all Hollywood than John Ford, whose "Stage Coach," was awarded by the New York critics as an outstanding achievement of 1939. John also has "Grapes of Wrath," "Drums Along the Mohawk" and "Young Mr. Lincoln" to his credit. I told you some time ago that John had visions of making pictures on his own. Well he's doing just that with Eugene O'Neil's "The Long Voyage Home." He starts in April with his dependable aid, Dudley Nichols, scripting the screen play. The Argosy Corporation, recently organized, is headed by Ford, who will release its productions through the Walter Wanger Company.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

JOHNNY PAUSED for a moment at the big glass door with the name "X. V. Anton" on it to square his slim shoulders and straighten his tie. One of the girls at the desks in back of him said, "What's going on Johnny, going to ask for a raise?" and he grinned at her before he went in.

The big fat man with the cigar in his florid face sitting at the desk looked up impatiently at the interruption.

"I'm Dodge," said Johnny. "You sent for me, but I can come back when you're not busy sir." He turned to go.

"No, wait a minute." The big man dropped the papers he had been studying and leaned back in his chair.

"IT IS SELDOM, thank Heaven," began Mr. Anton, "that it becomes necessary for me to fire one of my employes for the same reason that I'm firing you."

"Fire me?" said the amazed Johnny. ". . . what for?"

"You know very well what for," said Mr. Anton hotly. He stood up. "I refuse to have a thief working in my office!"

"B-B-But I haven't stolen anything!" Johnny expostulated. "What makes you think I'm a thief?"

"Explain then, if you can, the acute shortage in your postage account."

"Acute? Why it's only a few dollars at the most. In an item like postage for a large firm like this there are bound to be occasional irregularities! It's hard to explain how such things happen, but it's almost impossible to keep a close check on a thing like that."

X. V. Anton sat down and his eyes narrowed. "Since your explanation fails to convince me I must dispense with your services. I can endure no petty thieving in my organization. See the cashier and get out of here as soon as you can."

WHEN JOHNNY had left the phone rang on Mr. Anton's desk. "Mr. Anton," said a voice, "in checking one of our accounts I find that there is a $75 rebate due to the customer."

"Does the customer know about it?"

"Forget it then. Make me out a check for the amount and send it in...and listen...call Mr. Eldridge and tell him there will be a job in my office for his son, just as I promised . . . tomorrow morning?...yes, that's fine."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

SHE'S OVER 40. And her husband can't understand her. She cries and storms. She sulks and goes into big silences. She looks with black suspicion at other women. And when these diversions pall, threatens to kill herself in highly spectacular manners.

All because, says she, her husband doesn't love her any more.

"But," cries that badgered and bewildered gentleman, "I do love her. What more can I do to prove it? Haven't I taken care of her and the kids for 15 years—hardly taken a day off from my job and never looked at another woman? Don't I come home regularly every night and give her every cent I earn? If that isn't love, for Pete's sake what is?"

MILADY still wails and mopes and plans dramatic surprises. So, having been a woman now and then myself, I have decided to let him, and all other heckled husbands, in on certain vital statistics. If they weren't such dumb clucks they would have discovered these facts for themselves long since. But, being what they are, here goes:

Every male thinks he knows the answer. Man, being God's best treat for womankind (he admits it himself), and the dear little woman being naturally "just made for love" and Nothing Else But, these tantrums must rise from a hungry heart. So, even if she hurls the radio or swallows the bath salts, the poor guy believes he can still pin a few wreaths on himself — for she's doing it just because she dotes on him.

Whereupon I reply in language unbefitting a lady, Piffle! Baloney!

THE dear little woman throws her tantrums because she has a hungry heart, it is true. But her heart isn't hungry the way you think it is, Brother. She isn't raising all this rumpus because she wants her Love's Old Sweet Song. She's raising it because she's furious and broken-hearted for the power she once had and which has now departed.

Why does a withering woman of 40 long to be a starry-eyed young thing of 17, or a radiant queen of 30? Is it because love, in itself, was her favorite dish? No, it is because love was power; romance gave her her greatest moment of triumph, perhaps her only moment of importance in all her career.

What's wrong with marriage today? That's what's wrong? It is founded on the entirely false assumption that women prefer candy hearts to those normal adventures, crusades and battles which are as right as red-blooded human beings.

MY COUNTRY 'TS OF THEE

By CHARLES McGUIRK

A complete Short Story Daily on This Page

THERESA SERENTO was singing in a low sweet voice as she washed the lettuce leaves in a big pan. She was heedless. The lovely lines of her girlhood had disappeared with the rich good food one had thrust upon one with hardly the asking in America.

There were streaks of gray in her black hair. Her soft brown eyes, intent now upon her task, had depths in them and joy of life and a kind of puzzled sorrow. She was singing

"My counter dees for dee,
"Swit lan o' leabortee—
"My counter dees for dee,
"Sweet lan' o' leabortee."

The kitchen door slammed behind her and a very strident boy's voice said:

"My country, 'tis of thee,"
"Sweet land of liberty,
"Of thee I sing."

"Gee, Ma, you'll never get by for your citizenship if you can't talk English no better than that. Gee, Ma!"

She turned around to face Antonio Dominic Serento, her 12-year-old son. There was fear in her eyes, but it gave way to laughter as he grinned at her.

People, she remembered, said he looked like her and she was glad. Tony was a good boy. But rough.

"I thought I said those words very well," she defended herself in her mother tongue.

"Ah, Gee, Ma," he protested, "don't keep talking Italian. Talk English. Talk it all the time. That's the only way you learn it."

"The words I do not know," she told him plaintively.

"Atta girl, Ma," he praised her. "That's telling me."

"We are almost ready to go for the American citizenship," she said quickly so that we would not note her lapse into Italian. "When is the time, Tomaso?"

A BIG SHOT

"Saturday, Ma," Tony told her, "and I guess it won't be so tough. The boys tell me it's a cinch if you got the right parties behind you. And we got the right parties. Mr. Parmalee is vouching for us. He's a Big Shot around here."

"Bene," she said and stood with a cluster of lettuce leaves in her hand, thinking of her approaching opportunity and afraid of it a little. For on Saturday, two days hence, she would go to Judge Callahan's courtroom armed with her marriage certificate and her husband's citizenship papers, and take her examination for her citizenship. This, she knew now, she should have done long, long ago, nine years ago, a year after she and Tomaso, her husband, and little Tony, then a year and a half old, had landed here in America, the wonderful land.

The Cast of Characters in "My Country 'Tis Thee"

THERESA SERENTO who has postponed becoming an American citizen, but soon to make the attempt.

But too many other things had happened. Three more children, for instance, two boys and a girl. Then there were the burials of the boys. Now there were only Tony and Rosa, who was six years old. And then there was the succession of homes. There was first the living with the Dimasso's, Tomaso's cousins, when they first landed here. And then there was the tenement, when Tomaso got his first job as a hod-carrier. And then the three other and better flats as her husband learned his trade of mason. Now, he was a very big man. He was in the union and he was a straw boss on the jobs for Mr. Parmalee, the contractor, who was a member of Tammany Hall.

Tomaso was an American citizen, you bet you. He had taken out his first papers a year after they had come here and he had qualified for full-fledged citizenship five years later. That Tomaso was a smart man. He knew all about America. He knew all about George Washington. That George Washington who was the father of this country, just as Garibaldi almost became the father of Italy.

She loved this land Theresa did. It had given them all so much.

"In America," Tomaso used to tell her, "in America, we are all created free and equal. We got the vote. We make the mayor. We make the President. We make the money. We, the people, do all these things because, here, one man is as good as another. It says so in the Constitution."

This Constitution must, Theresa thought, be a wonderful thing. She had never quite decided just what it was but most of the time she thought of it as a big box in which were stored the most marvelous treasures. Alongside the treasures must have been either a guide book or one of those American talking machines, because the Constitution was always saying something wonderful about what it was offering to the citizens of the United States.

THE BIG DAY!

On that Saturday during which she was to face the supreme test, she got up earlier than usual and bathed and put on her very best dress. She thought that Tomaso would go with her to the judge but it turned out that Tomaso, that morning, had something very important to do for Mr. Parmalee. That was no more than fair because Mr. Parmalee was going to appear before Judge Callahan and tell him what a good woman Theresa was and advise him to let her become a citizen of the United States. Tony went with her instead.

But such a city hall! It looked like a marble palace. It was a marble palace. And everybody in it was well dressed and hurrying to and fro importantly and it smelled of new wood and caress marble and oil on the floors which were not floors, at all, but beautiful mosaics, pictures. And on the walls were pictures worthy of the great Michael Angelo, himself. They rode up in a big cage to the judge's courtroom and there they found Mr. Parmalee talking to the white-haired judge, just as if he was as great a man, just as though he was his equal. And at that moment, Theresa lost all her fears. It would only be a question of minutes now before she would be a full-fledged citizen of the United States.

The judge bowed gravely when Mr. Parmalee told him who she was and said to Tony, "This is your mother?"

And Tony talked right up to him because he was practically an American citizen himself, and he answered, "yes," judge, and she is a good American and she wants to be a citizen. My old—my father is a citizen. He has been one for five years. And I'll be one when I get bigger."

"That's fine," Judge Callahan said and then he began to ask Theresa questions. "Who was George Washington?" was the first one.

Now Theresa knew who George Washington was just as well as you do. But the judge was looking at her and she got frightened. Her eyes got bigger but not a word could she get out of herself. The judge waited for a moment and then he asked her what the Constitution was. And before she even thought she said, "it is a box."

But Theresa couldn't say another word. And then he asked her what [illegible] and she knew [illegible] Tony was [illegible] Mr. Parmalee [illegible] her confusion [illegible] the time [illegible] New York. But [illegible] couldn't answer a word [illegible] though [illegible] was reading a little behind [illegible] and waving [illegible] words. So [illegible] down and [illegible] kept saying:

"I have [illegible] Papers. I have not do Papers."

"Never mind, Mrs. Serento," the judge said, "we can't be successful at the first try. I will give you another chance. Try to go home and study about the United States. Ask your children to help you and read. Read a little every night to your mother and [illegible]. We'll see."

"Will I [illegible]?" Listen, judge, when she comes up before you again she'll know more about the United States than I do."

"I FAILED YOU"

So when they had come away from the most terrible day they had, she looked at Tony and she was a little afraid of what he said after a while.

"Tony, I am very sorry I failed you. I got frightened. But I didn't know those questions. You know. Only the one about George Washington."

"Ah, gee, Ma," Tony said. "Forget it. Only don't talk Italian to me. I got to talk language but English. It got to be so that he won't talk Italian to you when he has a mouthful of wax. After a while, you'll find out you know all about the United States just like one day I found out I knew all about arithmetic."

And Theresa was very grateful to have a son like Tony, grateful and a little puzzled. She is puzzled because on this Saturday she has learned that not only she knows little [illegible] English. It is a very strange thing. She will come into a group of women in a neighbor's home. They will be chattering away in Italian. But as soon as she comes in they switch to English, and to tell you the truth some of them are worse at it than she is. She suspects but she does not know what happened.

It was simply that Tony went to every neighbor in the block and to every friend of his family. And he said the same thing in all their houses.

"I want you to help my mother. She wants to become a citizen of the United States. To do that, she must speak and understand English a little. I would you and my father wants you to talk no Italian to her, but. Only English. That way she will pick it up fast. We want very much that my mother become a citizen of the United States. It is a great country."

"So," they [illegible], "we know that it is. Now [illegible] we are citizens of the United States ourselves."

THE END.

Spring Tonic For Faces

By ARLINE GOULD

IN THE DEAR, dead days of long ago everyone was dosed with "spring tonic" as the winter drew to a close. "Spring tonic" was not something delicious and sparkling, either. It was a dour-looking concoction of sulphur and molasses. Today we have our vitamin-loaded fresh fruits and vegetables all year 'round, and most of us will take Scotch and soda, thanks, for that restless feeling.

But much pleasanter, and quite necessary today, is a tonic for tired, winter-worn complexions. Or for that matter, for fair play to your skin through all four seasons.

Every girl nowadays uses a cleansing cream, even here in conservative New England. Most women who are interested in being attractive also use a night cream to ward off charm-destroying lines. And at last, the use of a cooling, pore-closing stimulant is becoming general . . . all of which are reasons why American women are the most youthful today, in the world!

Let me tell you of two entrancing skin tonics made by a famous cosmetician. One of them is a stimulant for the normal dry skin; the other a stronger astringent, intended for skins that are oily or afflicted with enlarged pores.

Both are lovely to look at and lovely to feel on your face. The stimulant, which you should use always to remove your cleansing cream (just as you use water to rinse off soap) is a lovely, Eastery violet shade. The astringent, violet-scented, is a Spring-like green in color, and both of them tone up your complexion no end.

A bottle of either will last for ages, too, for you know you don't have to apply it by the strength. After cleansing your face, before retiring or applying your makeup, you squeeze out a bit of cotton in very cold water and then pour the skin stimulant on the pad.

You can buy the stimulant (which does something for your spirit as well as your face) for less than a dollar, and the stronger astringent for a dollar. Once you try them, you will be a shouting convert.

Arline Gould will tell you where to get these tonics if you call LIBerty 4000 weekdays before five (except on Saturdays) or write, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

GIVE YOUR SKIN a springtonic every day in the year and it will glow with gratitude . . . then you can face the light with the same self-confidence with which Muriel Angelus, one of Paramount's new finds, faces the camera. Arline Gould urges the use of a stimulating lotion today.

Love and Marriage

Separated; Child His Problem

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

A year and a half ago my wife and I arranged a legal separation. I didn't demand a divorce, though I had plenty of cause, for the sake of our little daughter, at that time aged six. I allow the child to stay with her mother, just because I'm a fool, I suppose, and old-fashioned. But I know the environment is the worst possible for my beloved little girl.

Her mother's whole idea for the child is clothes, a permanent wave, even facials for her baby face, and the underthings she buys for her (pink satin, lace-trimmed) look to me as if they were intended for "ladies of the evening."

When my little daughter comes to see me once a week, her whole talk is about clothes, parties, even cocktails which she laps up if any dregs are left in the glasses after her mother's parties. No influence could be worse for a most gifted child.

I don't want to reopen this question of the separation again, but I feel I'm not doing right by the child who has a fine mind which should be cultivated. She should be given a chance to grow mentally instead of being taken to style shows and lapping up the dregs of cocktails.

I like your column because you don't sob. What do you suggest?

W. J. K.

I wonder if your trouble is an excess of patience or if, without realizing it, the fate of your little daughter presents too much fret and anxiety to re-open. It's so easy to let dreadful things just slide. Please don't lose a moment without consulting the best lawyer you can afford.

At least the child could be put in a good boarding school. Mothers such as you describe have no maternal instinct. Their children are an extension of their own vanity. The case recalls that grewsome horror story by Henry James, "The Turn of the Screw."

Color Forecasts For Spring

Those fashion fortune tellers, the stylists and designers who keep an ear to the ground and their weather eye on the orders from leading retailers (a neat trick if you can do it) give us the following forecast of colors for spring:

Dress coats: Navy blue away out in front, leading black by a length or two. This is the first year in many that navy orders have topped black. So far it looks like a 60-40 distribution, in favor of navy. Gray is moving up rapidly, and is expected to account for 25 per cent of coat sales. Brown in cocoa tones is appearing and finding favor in the South, and cadet blue is probably the best bet for fourth place.

Daytime dresses: Again, navy blue well in the lead, in both misses' and women's dresses and jacket ensembles. Gray ranks next . . . gray alone or combined with color. Gray with white lingerie touches will be smart. Next come pastel crepes and sheer woolens in turquoise, pink, blue and beige. Beige is coming rapidly to the front. Black, as ever, will be popular and smart, but is selling less than navy.

Holiday Calls for Old-Fashioned Foods

By MARTHA LEE

In paying homage to our first President, George Washington, on his birthday it is appropriate to serve old-fashioned foods such as fried chicken, southern spoon bread and, of course, cherries in some form or other.

If guests are coming for an informal call in the afternoon or evening, some chilled cherry juice would be good to serve, or it can be heated and served hot. Small cookies go well with it and, of course, the cherry juice comes in cans so that it is easy to prepare. Cherry juice in separate cans, or the juice from the canned fruit, is excellent to use in making a sherbet, bisque or mousse.

Cherry soup, not common in this country, but popular in parts of Europe, would be another excellent food to serve for the visiting guests.

CHERRY SOUP

Stew a can of No. 2 red cherries with half a cup of water, three or four whole cloves and a rusk or two; or instead, use the canned cherry juice, add the rusk, cloves, pinch of salt, about ½ a cup of sugar and then a quart of claret—yes, claret. This may be served cooled, or hot, but in either case the refreshing, spicy odor will be inviting.

A grand layer cake with cherry filling would be excellent to feature as the dessert for supper. First of all, bake a layer of your very best white cake. This is the foundation of the dessert. Then make up a layer of jellied cherry mixture in the same size cake tin. When it's set, you have not only a layer of clear jellied cherries but a top layer of fluff and foam. This is then placed atop the cake, decorated with cherries and served up from a plate edged with tiny American flags in marshmallow standards.

CHERRY TARTS

Pastry
Pitted red cherries
Sugar
Cornstarch
Cream cheese
Milk

Roll pastry thin, cut into rounds and bake on the bottom of tart pans. Heat canned red cherries, add sugar to taste, and thicken to desired consistency with cornstarch. Cool. Slightly soften cream cheese with milk and spread the inside of each tart shell with it. Fill them with the cherry mixture, and garnish each with a rosette of the softened cream cheese forced through a pastry tube.

A LAYER of cake topped with a jellied cherry mixture, molded and snow-capped with the aid of marshmallows, creates this timely Washington Pie. American flags in marshmallow standards complete the picture.

WASHINGTON PIE

1 2-3 cups canned cherries (with juice)
1-3 cup sugar
1 layer of white cake

Place marshmallows and boiling water in top of double boiler and heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth and fluffy. Meanwhile, combine the cherries (with juice) and sugar and heat for about 15 minutes. Then remove cherries from syrup and fold into the melted marshmallow mixture. Pour into a round cake tin and chill until firm. Just before serving, place the cake, right side up, on a large round plate. Quickly dip the cherry-marshallow mixture in a pan of hot water and unmold on a square of wax paper, moistened with lemon juice. (This prevents sticking). Then invert over cake. Polka-dot the top with a few canned cherries and serve in wedge-shaped pieces. Makes 8 servings.

To make the patriotic flag border, simply dip the pins securing tiny American flags in water and then insert in fresh marshmallows.

Manners

Grumbling Banned

By MRS. BEECKMAN

Are you a chronic grumbler? It's a great human temptation, this finding fault with people and things and circumstances.

It's a fester, this habit of grumbling, and it's awfully easy to let the poison collect inside of us. Then, whether we admit it or not, we don't enjoy ourselves—we're too "het up" all the time and certainly our family and friends don't find us agreeable people to live with or to know.

At this beginning of the new year we might find it rewarding to stand off and look at ourselves, see how much grumbling we do in a day, and gauge how futile it all is.

Grumbling, fault-finding, never makes for pleasant manners. If you find yourself beginning to grumble or to find fault, give yourself a dose of self-control. Or, even if it kills you, think of something pleasant to say, something that constructs rather than tears down. Or think about this:

IN THESE DAYS of wars and dictatorships it is pleasant to realize that there still exist five sturdy little kingdoms which continue calm, free national lives, completely apart from the world's turmoil . . .

One is the island of Sark, off the coast of France, the only remaining feudal state and ruled over by the gracious Dame de Sark . . . Here there are no politicians, no debt, no divorce . . . San Marino, a tiny but glorious republic located high on a pinnacle of rock near the eastern coast of Italy, Andorra in the heart of the Pyrenees, and Monaco are others of these fabulous little kingdoms . . . Then there is tiny Lichtenstein which continues its medieval life under Prince Francis Joseph, II, a generous ruler who supports the principality from his private estate . . .

When the Dame de Sark was in Boston last winter she visited Mrs. Anne Pepper Varney and gave her many of the interesting tales of Sark which Mrs. Varney will discuss in her lecture on the five little kingdoms at the Hotel Somerset, Feb. 28 . . . This will be the last of the season's Mornings of Diversion, presented each winter by Mrs. William Dana Orcutt . . .

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough remedy. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE

(Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute)

Use Institute approved measuring cups and spoons. Measure level.

INGREDIENTS

1 lb. confectioners' sugar (3 3-4 c.)
1 6-oz. can evaporated milk (¾-3 c.)
1 c. marshmallow whip
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
4 tbsp. peanut butter
1 tsp. vanilla extract

METHOD OF PREPARATION

Put sugar and milk in a saucepan and bring slowly to the boiling point, stirring frequently. Let the mixture cook gently, and as it browns on the bottom of the saucepan stir browned portion into the mixture to make a golden color. Stirring constantly, being careful not to let the mixture burn, cook to 238 degrees F., or until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from the heat and add the marshmallow whip, butter, peanut butter, and vanilla. Beat by hand or with electric beater at high speed until nearly stiff, and pour it into a greased pan. Makes about 1½ lbs.

Hollywood Notes

—By LOUELLA O. PARSONS—

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21—Don Ameche is the latest to incur the displeasure of his studio. He was suspended from the Twentieth Century-Fox studio and taken off the payroll.

The reason for Darryl Zanuck's drastic action was because Don failed to appear at the Paramount studio where he was on loan for "The Night of January Sixteenth." He had been reluctant to accept the assignment and it is assumed that is the reason he walked out of the part.

When Ameche stepped out, Paramount lost Barbara Stanwyck through no fault of hers. A rewriting job was necessary, and she has a commitment at RKO. Patricia Morrison and Ray Milland were put into the Stanwyck and Ameche roles.

Out of a luncheon Jack Warner had with Governor E. P. Carville of Nevada, came a most interesting idea for a new picture. The governor, who brought 25,000 signatures from Nevada citizens inviting Jack to the premiere of "Virginia City" mentioned in passing that the building where the "Territorial Enterprise" was published still stands.

That's the paper on which Mark Twain started as a reporter and later became editor. It is the same paper that was bought for $100,000 to give a wealthy citizen a chance to fire the managing editor. So Jack decided to do a picture based on frontier journalism, telling something of the early day scoops and the methods used in getting out a newspaper. 'Claude Rains is the choice for Mark Twain.

More Hollywood Snapshots: The William Haines' huge party held Saturday night in honor of Duncan McMartin is still the topic of conversation. Artists painted pictures of McMartin over the many mirrors in the Haines house.

Duncan, who leaves for Canada to join the army any day, was all for getting a glass cutter and removing the mirrors with his paintings intact. Only his inability to get a workman at the wee sma hours prevented his taking the souvenirs with him.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

printed here first a month ago, and for good measure was repeated the other day because Mike is worth two notes as against one note or less for most politicians . . . The Benny Gaines-Jack Dempsey deal has been in the works—the conversational works—for weeks, and the project was much more ambitious than the opening of merely a night-club . . . They planned on taking over a whole hotel . . . But the deal is cold as the Colonel's barren pate, if hatless, in a blizzard . . . Oh, yes, you will hear rumors about that one when the Florida season is over . . . But there's a couple of million needed for the transaction, and even if it turns out to be a Federal project it is getting so that more and more pressure is needed to pry loose that kind of lettuce from even the U. S. A. . . .

FRANKLY, WE THINK it will never happen, and why embarrass the present owners of the hostelry? . . . As for the Glenn Gray-Ben Bernie fracas in melody, once a story like that becomes old-hat enough to be plastered on the billboards all over town—at regular advertising rates—we keep away from the matter until our own boys have had a chance to get in their licks and ask the gentlemen are they desirous of supplementing their billboards campaigns with a few inches of space in a newspaper . . . Lawsy, Colonel, give us some NEWS . . . Like, for instance, Tulane vs. B. C.

THE "SERVICE" (whereby the bookmakers are able to learn what nags won the races the books are gambling on) is slow and getting worse by the day . . . Greatest discomfort to the bookmakers is the lack of the "closing line."

AUSTEN LAKE

Sox Complete Williams' Home-Run Catch-All

A TAP OF THE CARPENTER'S HAMMER, another dribble of concrete, a lick of the painter's brush and Fenway Park's new $100,000 right wing will be complete.

AUSTEN LAKE

The Red Sox may not make the cost of this extra construction from next summer's turnstile take, what with spendings for players and upkeep of its farm system. But that's no matter to Tom Yawkey, whose object is to have some fun from his inheritance, make Boston's heart happy, and maybe skim a little off the top of his Federal income tax.

But it seems a little wicked in these mournful times for the Sox to throw up a fresh batch of steel and concrete with fancy turrets and customer's runways, knowing that their field will be used, perhaps, 70 days in the year and left the rest of the time to eat its head off in upkeep, taxes and repairs.

It's none of my business, except that my business is one of nose poking into other people's business as a kind of professional conscience-examiner and fact-snooper. You have no idea how infuriated some people get when I go prying and kibitzing into their household affairs. I remember how irritated Bob Quinn got when I wrote how he'd fumbled Bill McKechnie's contract to Cincinnati; and how Judge Fuchs used to stew and fuss when I told of his phenagles with Babe Ruth; and how the dog and horse tracks yelled when I analyzed their breakage grabs, and . . . but never mind!

* * *

Two Firms, One Overhead

IT HAS BEEN MY PET THEORY THAT either the Red Sox should take the Bees as roommates at Fenway Park, or that the Bees should take the Red Sox to bed and board at Gaffney street. Because it seems ridiculous that the Bees should have a $500,000 stadium on one side of Commonwealth avenue and the Red Sox should have a $3,000,000 park on the other side, both within a biscuit toss of each other and neither in use at the same time.

Common sense would dictate that both the Red Sox and the Bees should live in happy harmony, splitting the house costs and taking turns at petting the office cat. That they do not is pretty much due to inter-league jealousies, which have smouldered like subterranean fires for 39 years and sometimes bust out in little licks of flame and boiling eruptions over the number of stitches in the official ball or whether a pitcher should lift his leg once or twice before delivering the pitch, or whether the resin bag should be pe permitted to lie behind the pitcher's mound.

* * *

Quinn Never Liked Bees' Field

I CAN RECALL SITTING WITH BOB QUINN, when he was master of Fenway's poor farm in the early 30's and, in off times, used to while away the boredom by visiting the Braves' big train shed. He did not like the place and, with characteristic candor, said so. It resembled a drafty carbarn where the wind whistled up his pant legs and the great empty acres of bleacher seats set up a lonely brooding among the coroner's jury who huddled together like storm-bound sheep.

At the time both Bob and Judge Fuchs were having trouble to scratch up their payrolls and keep the sheriff out of the vestibule. Both wanted to merge their properties and save maybe $50,000 a year. But just when Bob was preparing to hock his estate, pack his duffle and move over the avenue, the two magnates broke off in a huff over some trivial matter like a leaky waterspout or what kind of pictures they would hang on the office walls. So they ended by sassing each other.

So Bob continued to spend small fortunes each spring in patching his wooden bleachers and keeping a carpenter's crew perpetually whacking away with hammers. And Judge Fuchs spent like sums in tinkering with the plumbing and mending the fissures in his walls, until one day Tom Yawkey shovelled $1,200,000 from his cash bins and bought Bob out.

* * *

But Tom Said "No"

IT WAS A PRANK OF FATE, TOO, THAT QUINN, who was always a strict party man, should finally jump the American League fence and go over to the opposition Bees. For Bob's loyalty to his own side, as Red Sox boss, sometimes generated enough friction to start bonfires and he was noted for leaping to his feet in inter-league meetings and scorching the N. L. delegates for some matter like synthetic Sunday doubleheaders.

So a few years ago when he came to sick doctor the Braves bankrupt property and swept out all recollections, aromas and souvenirs of the Fuchian era, he asked Tom Yawkey, please could he bring his team as co-tenant at Fenway Park, where his heart lay buried. But Tom said "No," this was his private hobby into which he had poured so much cash and loving attention that he didn't want it cluttered up with alien athletes. Like Greta Garbo he wanted to be alone.

He held that he wanted to express individualism in his own park which would be impossible under dual tenantry, where if he wanted to build the right field stands a little nearer to help a slugger like Ted Williams sink home runs, the other club would promptly veto the move as detrimental to its fleet-footed fielder's chance to drag down rival drives. So he said "No! No! No!" and there the matter stands.

Only in building his right field stands a little closer I trust that Yawkey will not have the same experience that Judge Fuchs had when, in the winter of 1928, he erected a set of left and center field bleachers tactfully arranged as a handy target for his right-hand batting list. He spent $30,000 to do this. Only to his dismay he found the shooting distance was so close that it literally rained home runs, so he spent another $50,000 to have the stands moved 50 feet back and never really realized any dividends.

WILD BRUINS OFFENSE TAKES CLUB TO TOP TIE

By BILL GRIMES

Milt Schmidt returned to the hockey wars and played the star role in the Bruins' 5-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Boston Garden before a capacity gathering of 13,286. The victory put the furiously attacking Rossmen in a top tie with the Rangers.

WORLD CHAMPION—Alfred Blozis, Georgetown athlete, who startled spectators at New York A. C. meet by breaking world shotput record. Blozis hurled 16-pound spheroid 53 feet, 8½ inches. Previous record was held by Jack Torrance, Louisiana State, at 53 feet, 1½ inches. Blozis was just doing pal a favor, for Leo Sexton of Georgetown held record before Torrens.

"Schmiddy" sat out the Detroit game a week ago last night, because of a pulled groin muscle. He was the leading scorer of the N. H. L. at the time with 39 points. Then the Bruins didn't play for a week but none of the contenders was able to catch him.

Having given the other boys a chance to make the race for individual honors interesting, "Schmiddy" went out last night, scored one goal and three assists and now has 43 points safely tucked away.

Woody Dumart beat "Turk" Broda, the Toronto goal minder for two goals. Bobby Bauer nicked him for one, as did Herbie Cain.

STEWART THE BOSS

The shutout was the fourth Frankie Brimsek has turned in this season. And it should be borne in mind that the Rossmen played wide open hockey from start to finish.

In fact, the Bruins were on the offensive so much that they had no less than 35 shots on Broda, while Brimsek made but 13 saves. This proves conclusively that the play was in Toronto territory most of the evening.

The Krauts put on a three man attack, with Woody Dumart passing forward, after getting the puck from Milt Schmidt. Little Bobby came in from the right wing, jumped through the Maple Leaf defense, faked a shot and then beat Broda, when "Turk" went to the ice.

KRAUTS TAKE OVER

A two-man combination play put the Bruins out in front in the opening period. Bill Hollett started the play in his own zone, when he gave the puck to Eddie Wiseman, who shot down the right wing board to the Toronto defense. Then Wiseman passed across to Herbie Cain, and old dead-eye hit the target.

Assisted by Capt. Dit Clapper and Bill Hollett, Schmidt produced the second goal. A power play was on, and the Krauts, Clapper and Hollett were milling around in the visitors' zone. Finally, Hollett flipped the puck forward to Clapper, who, seeing he was covered by Broda, passed to "Schmiddy," and Turk was a dead pigeon.

The Krauts took over the third period. At about half time, Bauer broke down the ice with Schmidt and Dumart and laid a beautiful pass on Milt's stick at the defense.

On their next appearance in action, the Krauts tallied twice in six seconds, Bauer and Dumart causing the red light to flash.

Cornell Sends Zeigler After Lightbody's Scalp

Jack Moakley, venerable coach of the Cornell track and field team, today announced from Ithaca that he will enter Capt. Walter Zittel in the 300-yard run, Ken Zeigler in the 600 and Willard Schmidt in the 1000 in the fifth annual Quadrangular track and field meet among Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth and Cornell at the Boston Garden on Saturday night.

Moakley, who is starting his 41st year as Cornell coach, brings an exceptionally strong team to Cambridge, as which probably will score in any event except the pole vault.

The Ithacans may run up more than 50 points, and only an exceptional performance by one of the other three colleges can stop the Big Red from its first Quadrangular title.

Cornell last year was second to Harvard but never has won a Quadrangular meet.

Capt. Zittel and Rex Wood will run in the dash, and Zittel has a good chance to win in what will be a wide open scramble for first place.

Ted Williams Maps Return to Boston For Hose Getaway

By HERB FINNEGAN

Boston will get another glimpse of Ted Williams before the season opens.

The rookie sensation of the 1939 Red Sox season will motor down from Yonkers, N. Y., after the holiday and is expected at Fenway Park Friday or Saturday of this week.

Living on the West Coast where his public idolizes him, the Kid never went out there last fall to receive the plaudits of the multitude as nine out of ten rookies would have done.

Instead he wintered in Minneapolis to woo the girl of his dreams.

DINES TOM KENNY

Ted admits he didn't make as much progress in his amatorial pursuit as he did with his hitting, and so after the Baseball Writers' dinner here he put "Minnie" out of his mind and went to visit his aunts in Yonkers.

Ted doesn't like to travel alone. That's why he's coming to Boston to leave with the crowd. Just to have company on his automobile trip to New York after the dinner, he took Tom Kenny, Fenway custodian, along.

In New York he dined Tom to the king's taste, and then sent him home by plane. Nothing cheap about our Ted.

Ted will have plenty of chance to embellish his oratorical prowess on the ride from Boston to Sarasota because in addition to the news correspondents the largest crowd of Royal Rooters in history will trek along to see their favorites in action at the Florida Spa.

WARSTLER SIGNS

Jimmy Hurley, another royal rooter from Kennedy's, is currently nursing a sore leg, and may not be able to make the trip.

* * *

Players leaving the South Station will be Williams and Ulysses Lupien.

At Providence Gene Desautels and Alton Deuse will climb aboard. Deuse is a Providence College boy who played for the Sox Rocky Mount farm last year . . . He looks like fine prospect.

Rabbit Warstler, aging utility infielder of the Bees, has sent in his signed contract. Now if Pitcher Bill Posedel and Infielder Eddie Miller will fall into line, the Bees will be willing to forget all about rookie infielder Bill Schuster and rookie outfielder Chet Clemens.

Meanwhile at Fenway Park, no word has been received from Doc Cramer, Lou Finney, Fritz Ostermueller or Jack Wilson. Eddie Collins, due to return here tomorrow, may have something of interest to say on the matter.

Pie Hunting For Infielder

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 21 (AP)—When the Pittsburgh Pirates open their spring training camp, the club's one-time great third baseman, Pie Traynor, will be absent for the first time in 20 years.

Replaced as manager of the Bucs by Frankie Frisch at the end of last season, Traynor is now beating the bushes as a scout for Pittsburgh.

Looking over the kids enrolled in Rogers Hornsby's baseball school here, Pie opined that the Pirates would have to uncover a good Class AA infielder by the time the season starts.

"If anything should happen to second baseman Floyd Young or shortstop Lee Handley," he said, "we'd be sunk."

He added he hoped to locate a fellow 28 or 29 years old who might "get off on the right foot" after the clubs open their camps.

Traynor, discussing the collapse of the injury-ridden Bucs last season, pointed to his burly chest and said:

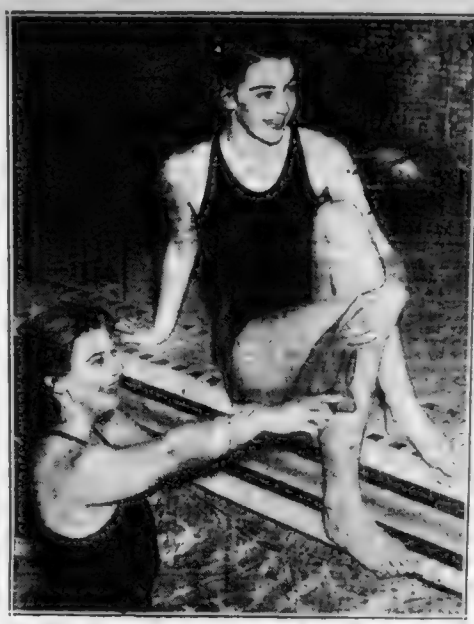
"But the fans were swell to me. They were all sympathetic."

"Boston After Dark," by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.



"AND THEN SHE FELL"—Patricia Grojean amuses Ruth Howarth with tank stories between splashes at Y. M. C. A. pool. Both girls will compete in B. S. A. meet there tomorrow.

Brennan-Leonard Duel B. S. A. Holiday Feature

The first meeting of the indoor season of New England's two leading naiads, Doris Brennan of Olneyville Boys' Club Auxiliary and Dorothy Leonard of the Worcester W. S. A., will feature tomorrow night's 19th annual meet of the Boston Swimming Association at the Boston Y. M. C. A. pool.

The B. S. A. program, the feature of the indoor competition, has five championships listed.

They will be the N. E. senior 100-yard free style, N. E. junior 150-yard individual medley, and the Massachusetts senior 100-yard back stroke for the women, and the N. E. junior 150-yard back stroke, and Massachusetts senior 220-yard breast stroke for the men. In addition there will be four other events.

The outstanding feature of the evening will probably be the senior 100-yard free style for women for it is in this event that the Misses Brennan and Leonard are due to clash.

The Rhode Island star is the defending champion, but last summer Miss Leonard annexed the outdoor 100-meter free style diadem, so a hotly contested race is assured.

Tom McGrath of the Worcester Boys' Club, who has held his share of titles in recent years, is expected to add the State 220 yard breast stroke to his collection. His opposition is expected to come from Robert Manson of the B. S. A., Robert Muir of the Brookline Swimming Club, and Charley Haywood of the Boston Y. M. C. A.

Skating Club Show in March

An elaborate program is in the making for the annual Skating Club of Boston figure skating carnival, staged on March 7, 8, 9, 10 at the club's own new rink in Soldiers Field rd.

The club's rink, boasting one of the largest artificial ice surfaces in the world, has a somewhat limited seating capacity, hence the decision to run the affair over four days.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Frick, professional aces, and a number of outside professional amateur standouts, are likewise headlined.

Four Pirates Still Unsigned

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21 (AP)—A signed contract put Pitcher Bob Klinger on the Pittsburgh Pirates' bandwagon for 1940, leaving only Shortstop Arky Vaughan, Pitcher Russ Bauers and Third Baseman Lee Handley unsigned.

Foxx Says York Threat

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—Jimmy Foxx, slugging first baseman for the Boston Red Sox, is backing a right-handed hitter to break Babe Ruth's all-time season record of 60 home runs.

His candidates are Hank Greenberg, Detroit slugger, and Rudy York, who has been robbing around the Tigers' infield and outfield trying to find a permanent spot.

"If Rudy York should make good as a first baseman, and if he doesn't worry too much about his fielding, he may be a contender for the home run title," Foxx declared.

Both Hank Wilson, Greenberg and Foxx are the only major league players to hit more than 50 home runs in a season. Three of them are right-handers.

Foxx, who poled out 58 home runs in 1938 to approach Ruth's record, said Joe DiMaggio should be up among the 50's in a year or so. The Yankee outfield star is a right-hander, too.

"THE SNOW IS ALWAYS WHITER IN THE OTHER FELLOW'S YARD," to vary an old saying, so we set forth for a return visit to Christmas Tree Inn in Bridgton, Me., last weekend despite the fact that Boston had just been buried by a blizzard.

Described in a recent column, this Inn and its surroundings are a series of glowing pastels done on Highland Lake's mirrored surface. Saturday night, boughs on tall pines formed lacy frames for the stars, while the moon painted schussing silhouettes of trees on a white canvas below . . . Here is a spot for skiers and one and all! . . .

Staying at this hostelry was a group of Harvard Business School students, seeking new snow fields. These lads found plenty of thrills in tobogganing at night at streamlined speed down the long 'chute . . .

Shirt-sleeved, spring skiing was in vogue at Mt. Pleasant as Sunday dawned bright and very warm for February . . .

• • •

Affable as ever, Jack Spratt, manager of the slopes and tow, was on hand greeting folks from all over New England. Numerous local residents turned out to watch the skiers twist and turn, slip and slide; many brought their lunches and made a day of it.

Boys in the Ski Patrol sped about the hills watching for Whiz Bums The emphasis in the sport at last is on striving for safety!

A downhill race in the afternoon was conducted informally as a series of time trials on the mile and-one half Wayshego trail. The last schuss was exciting and ley, re-

The first section of the Thursday "Snow Train" will leave Boston as soon after 7:45 a. m. as loaded, while the second section will leave the North Station at 8:15, making a suburban stop at Reading at 8:30. Both trains will run express to North Conway and Intervale.

The return trip will leave Intervale at 5:15 p. m.

The race was expertly run. Short wave radio sets at the top and bottom of the mountain were used for timing each man, as well as for starting each contestant at two minute intervals. Amateur radio "hams" operated the sets with much enthusiasm . . .

Great work for the development of skiing and other winter sports in Maine is being carried on by Mr. H. H. Sampson, headmaster of Bridgton Academy. This energatic skier is doing all he can to aid and promote ski clubs and further other activities. At Bridgton he has started an open-air, winter sports information booth, the first of which we have ever heard, and he sends out complete weather reports of conditions. The boys at the academy all go in for skiing, a compulsory course being given by Maestro Hannes Schneider, and they love it! . . .

• • •

A big Winter Carnival is to be held at Bridgton on March 1, 2 and 3, that will feature many novel events including the Coronation of Miss Maine, Winter Sports Queen. On the final day, the State of Maine Downhill and Slalom Class C Championships will be contested on Pleasant Mountain. These races are sanctioned by the U. S. E. A. S. A., and should draw a large field of entries vieing for the title.

SLALOM SOLILOQUIES: "I'm too old to race in competition any more!" recently declared Alex Bright of Boston's Hochgebirge Ski Club. But the 42-year-old former U. S. Olympic skier and dean of Eastern ski racing failed to prove his point when he turned in one of the best races of his career on Sunday, winning the fifth Massachusetts downhill championship at Thunderbolt Trail on Mt. Greylock from a fast field of 93 stars, at the same time smashing the course record by a second! Bright's time for the 1.4 mile trail was 2:24.8, against the former record of 2:25.2 set by Fritz Dehmel of the Bavarian Universities Ski Team in 1936. Alex was racing on this sleep, tricky trail for the first time, and deserves the accolades of all skiers! . . .

Another Boston victory was scored Sunday in the Eastern Slope fourth annual championship on the Bear Mountain trail at Bartlett, N. H., when Donald Allen of the Appalachian Mountain Club winged his way to victory. Only four runners in a field of 26 finished the descent without a fall . . .

At Lake Placid, N. Y., sensational 15-year-old Marilyn Shaw of Stowe, Vt., won top honors in the fourth annual Kate Smith women's ski tournament, capturing both the slalom and downhill races.

Warren, national champion of combined cross country racing and jumping in 1937, and the intercollegiate jumping champ of 1938, is entered by the Vermont Academy Outing Club.

The third brother, Roland, wearing the colors of the Sno Birds, is competing in all the Class B events . . . What a skiing trio! . . .

The 60 meter landing hill at Gilford-Laconia is constantly being groomed for the title meet, and teams of oxen have been used to break out the crust, resulting in a good surface. All is in readiness for the biggest meet ever! . . .

SKI SCHOOL SCOOPS: A lesson in race planning and slalom course setting was given recently to more than 100 schoolboys of Woodstock, Vt., on the famous hill, Suicide Six. The ski maestro was none other than Oscar Cyr, who has his own ski school in this ski tow town. Competent commentators marveled at the art with which the bronzed New Hampshire boy flagged a fast, open course without a single flush or hair-pin turn in it, a course which combined safety with the utmost demand on the racer's skill and presence of mind. The course was so trickily placed on the lower part of Six that Wendy Cram, local high school star, took nearly as long in winning it as he did to annex the Fisk Trophy racing the entire length of the hill.

FRANCONIA NOTCH FLASHES: Saturday in North Woodstock, N. H., will find the local outing club playing host to a dozen high schools during their carnival week. Starting at 9:30, the interscholastic meet will be held on the Grandview Mt. slope and will consist of five men teams competing in downhill, slalom, cross-country, skating, and dashes, for boys only.

The Cannon Mountain Time Trials for the Gold, Silver, and Bronze Cannons are attracting many aspirants these days. So far, only two Gold emblems have been awarded. How MacPhail Paid $750 To Hurler for Failure

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—This is the story of how a man collected $500 for throwing an inkwell at his boss, and if you've heard a stranger one, stop here.

Paul Derringer, Cincinnati pitcher, was the man who pegged the glassware, and the target was Larry MacPhail.

It happened in 1935, Paul recalled, when Charlie Dressen was managing the Reds and MacPhail was master-minding from the business office. Derringer constituted about 90 per cent of the club's pitching staff.

Paul, toward the close of a tight game, failed to slide home. He swears he was thrown out by 20 feet and saw no reason for hitting the dirt. But MacPhail socked a $250 fine on his star and suspended him for three days.

Derringer started in to enjoy his forced vacation. He was doing fine with it, too, you may believe, when MacPhail reached him by phone next day and demanded to know why he wasn't at the ball yard.

Well, there was a pretty hot argument, Paul recalls. He refused to report that day. Finally he consented to meet Larry at his office next day.

Tempers were short when the two faced each other.

Finally Larry said something that Derringer, a product of old Kentucky, really resented. He grabbed the inkwell and let fly. It creased one of MacPhail's ears, knocked plaster off the wall back of his head and erupted ink all over the premises.

Derringer recalls that MacPhail looked shaken.

"Why, Slim, you might have killed me with that thing," he said.

"That's what I was a-trying to do," Derringer admitted, cooling off slightly himself.

MacPhail steadied and punched a button on his desk. He asked his secretary to bring him a check. He filled it in carefully and passed it over to the big patcher. Paul looked at it incredulously.

"But, Larry," he said. "You didn't fine me but $250 and this check says $750."

"That's all right," said MacPhail, who was breathing almost normally again. "That extra $500 is for missing me!"

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

JOE LOUIS HAS found a public defender in the person of Jimmy Johnston, manager of Bob Pastor and Valentin Campollo. Johnston believes that the sports writers and fans have gone a bit overboard in putting the rap on Louis' ability as a fighter since the latter won a close decision over Arturo Godoy after 15 rounds of battling.

It is possible that Johnston fears that as a result of his failure to stop Godoy that Louis may decide only to risk his precious championship in big money matches. Such a program might prevent Pastor from getting a return meeting with the "Brown Bomber" while it would definitely block a tussle between Campollo and Louis.

I do not believe Louis has any such plan. Joe has found in the past that he needs three or four tune-up contests to place him on edge for a major defense of his championship. The title holder will go through with his April bout with Johnny Paychek, and in due time will take on other second-class opponents.

Johnston insists that Louis has done more than any other boxer to restore interest in the ring game. Here is Jimmy's fiery statement:

"This seems to be the experts' season for readying Joe Louis for the slide down the ways and into the down-and-out club for champions. They are now saying how easy it would have been for Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney and even Sam Langford to knock out Louis just because he didn't kayo Arturo Godoy WHO WOULDN'T FIGHT.

"Did Jack Dempsey K. O. Tom Gibbons? Did Gene Tunney K. O. many, if any? When they failed to do so were they decried by the experts?

"Just imagine Sam Langford licking Joe Louis. Whom did Sammy ever lick worthy of the name? He was never a champion of any class. His best fight was with Stanley Ketchell and Ketchell chased him all over the ring with Langford hanging on for dear life. Of course, they'll tell you he had to do it. Still, George Dixon never had to do it. Neither did Joe Walcott and I know Jack Blackburn didn't.

* * *

Rates Johnson Even With Louis

"THE OLD TIME fighters whose boosters never saw them fight make me laugh. Out of all of the old time boxers there is but one who would give Joe Louis trouble and he is a man of his own race, Jack Johnson. Johnson had boxing skill and a good head. A Louis-Johnson match would be a toss-up. Johnson had cleverness, which he depended upon to win, as well as great ring strategy, but, Louis has persistency, a punch and is a positive finisher which Johnson was not.

"With Joe Louis in proper shape and good fighting condition there is only one man who has a chance with him and that's Bob Pastor.

"Boxing has had new life injected into it since Joe Louis became champion of the world. What other man, black or white, would take the chances he does with a million-dollar asset? Remember, Louis' boxing as often as he does stimulates interest in the game.

"Do you realize that one man's vote stood between Louis and his million-dollar title or retirement, in his fight with Godoy, and for the smallest gate he has drawn since he became champion? Still, he'll be back again in April to tackle another.

"Let those who make a living in and through boxing be thankful we have Joe Louis as 'top man.' Joe is the first and only real fighting heavyweight champion this or any other country has ever seen.

"Many former champions, after winning the title, have said, "I'LL be a fighting champion," but after a year or so they decide to pick their own opponents and invariably lose.

* * *

JOE LOUIS HAS never uttered a malicious word about any of his opponents, black or white. He doesn't employ foul tactics, never alibis, and doesn't ask for any assistance once the bell starts him on the way.

"I saw John L. Sullivan box exhibitions but never fight. I have seen every champion in the heavyweight class since James J. Corbett and up to now they will have to show me a better man than Joe Louis.

"The ring will wait a long time before another heavyweight champion comes along who can be compared with the present titleholder. (However, I still have hopes that Bob Pastor may catch up with him.)

* * *

Godoy Aided by Awkward Style

GODOY WAS aided by his awkward style in his contest with Louis. The Chilean Chiller boxed with his chin as near the canvas as possible which made it difficult for Louis to get many clean punches at him.

Louis feared hurting his hands, according to his own admission, and boxed cautiously.

The "Brown Bomber" retained his title on a split decision, one of the judges casting his ballot for Godoy. As Johnston points out, another vote for Godoy would have shifted the championship. If beaten, Louis would have received the swallest purse given to a heavyweight king in recent years in a tussle in which he lost his crown.

When Louis won from Jimmy Braddock in Chicago, the Jersey heavyweight received a guarantee of $300,000. I would say Louis' title would have been worth $1,000,000 if won by Godoy, and yet Joe risked his ring position in a match that didn't figure to pay him $30,000 at tops. The fellow is entitled to credit for having faith in his ability to win and for his willingness to meet all comers.

MONTREAL SEXTET FAVORED IN GARDEN HOLIDAY TREAT

By MICHAEL GILLOOLY

All-Star teams of Greater Boston's three hockey leagues will swing into their first sets of competition tomorrow afternoon with twin bills on the dock for both the Garden and Arena ice houses.

At the North Station depot, the Greater Boston "all" club will again meet the Catholic high six of Montreal while the seconds take on the Boston College Freshmen.

The Bay State All Stars and the Eastern Mass. group will swarm the Arena surface in their annual argument with second teams of both circuits completing the double-header.

ALARY CLEVER GOALER

The squad, packed with power, will have a very interesting time in trying to pass Vince Alary, Catholic goalie, who held last year's All Star's to a 2-3 defeat. Only 15 years old, Alary is enjoying his best year in the strings.

Center Al Lauzon, another veteran, will lead the "kid" line of Maurice Roy and Albert de Lorimier. Spare forwards will be Andy Bernard, Marty Madore and George Langan.

BAY STATERS FAVORED

Last year the Montrealers topped the G. B. I. club and come into town a much improved outfit.

At the Arena, the Bay Staters, looking like the strongest of the three all star aggregations, should take the Eastern outfit over the hurdles.

Perley Grant, Bob Mason and Hec Rousseau, in the Bay State first line, shape up as the choice forward wave in schoolboy ranks.

The meeting of the second teams should bring about the same results as the first stringers, with the Bay State loop in front by a decisive margin.

16 May Start In $50,000 Santa Derby

LOS ANGELES, Feb 21 (AP)—With guesses on the number to be named ranging from 15 to 25, entries were awaited today for the sixth running of the $50,000 added Santa Anita Derby tomorrow.

Among top flight contestants expected were Milky Way Farms' Gallahadion and Tough Hombre, as well as Chatted if the track is muddy; C. S. Howard's Mioland, Neil McCarthy's Augury, Foxcatcher Farms' Fairy Chant and Maestro Sascha, and W. C. Stroube's Exarch.

SEES 16 STARTING

Racing Secretary Webb Everett predicted 16 3-year-olds would go to the post. That would be welcome news to horsemen who have feared the field might exceed 20.

Several probable entries, including Norman Church's Exemplify, were named for races on today's program. The stable said he would run again in the Derby if he showed well this afternoon.

JOCKEYS NAMED

Basil James is due to pilot Gallahadion and Harry Richards either Tough Hombre or Chatted; Maurice Peters draws Fairy Chant, Apprentice Doug Dobson Maestro Sascha, Johnny Adams Mioland, and Lloyd Knapp Augury. Nick Wall was contracted to handle Exemplify. Carroll Bierman, who rode Ciencia to win the 1939 Santa Anita Derby, was signed by the Louis B. Mayer stable for Sir Jeffrey.

Olympics Renew Flag Bid In St. Hyacinthe Series

By SAM BROGNA

Amateur hockey swings back into the local spotlight after an absence of nearly two weeks, tomorrow night, when the Boston Olympics take on the St. Hyacinthe Gaulois in a Washington's Birthday fracas at the Garden.

If Hago Harrington's crew wins both games, they will be only one game behind Sherbrooke Red Raiders, loop leaders.

And with two games remaining against Sherbrooke's one, they will have at least an even chance of tying the Raiders for the pennant.

With the exception of Frankie Spain who is in Springfield on business and hasn't been able to work out, the entire squad is in tip-top condition and raring to go after a two-week layoff.

If the former Dartmouth star fails to report, Coach Harrington will move up Junie Allen to pivot the second line with Gerry Desrosiers and Dick Lewis.

Let's have HARMONY

IT'S BLENDED JUST SO IT'S THE WHISKEY TO KNOW.

AND IT SAYS, "SIP ME. SIR. TAKE A TRY!"

SO LIGHT-BODIED, MELLOW, YOU'LL GO FOR IT, FELLOW.

AND LOOK AT THE PRICE. WHAT A BUY!

BENNETT'S RATINGS It's Profit THAT COUNTS!

THERE are no "sure shots" in racing and no one can honestly guarantee that you will win on any one particular horse or day! BUT—the results of the Bennett Way and Bennett's Top Horses over a period of time have proven that this is the best and only method which may be consistently relied upon for any success in the final results. THAT is why in nine months a flat play of $2 on just our Top Horse has shown a profit of over $1000.

HERSHEY SNOW PINS HAMILL

Red Will Join Bruins in Chicago Sunday

By BILL GRIMES

Although the Maple Leafs were not at war strength, due to the absence of Syl Apps, Dave Schriner and Reg Hamilton, the Bruins have seldom shown to better advantage than they did last night while pinning a 5 to 0 defeat on the Smythe-less aggregation from the Queen City . . .

• • •

The Krauts picked up nine more points for a season total of 109 . . . Milt Schmidt widened his scoring lead by picking up four points and boosting his total to 43.

• • •

'Red" Hamill was snowbound and didn't put in an appearance. He 'phoned Manager Art Ross and was ordered to stay at Hershey until Saturday and to join the Bruins Sunday in Chicago . . . Immediately after the game, Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt, Woody Dumart, Roy Conacher and Capt. "Dit" Clapper left for Toronto—They were on the same train with the Maple Leafs and doubtless played the game over and over before retiring.

• • •

Frank Selke and Hank Goldup are on their way to Pittsburgh . . . During a telephone conversation with Connie Smythe, who was in Toronto, Selke suggested he sit in on tonight's Pittsburgh-Syracuse game . . . He was under the impression it was to be played in the Salt City . . . Later, he discovered the Smoky City would be the site . . . Manager Larry Aurie of the Pirates asked Smythe to send him Goldup for tonight . . . Selke and Goldup left for New York on the midnight and pulled out for Pittsburgh at 9 o'clock this morning . . . They are due in the Smoky City at 6:20 this p. m.

• • •

Billy "The Kid" Taylor, who was sent to Pittsburg by Maple Leafs, has scored at least one goal in every game he's played in the International-American League . . . The Smoky City fans are hockey mad, and the Pirates will show a profit of better than $25,000 this season . . .

• • •

Frankie Brimsek was all smiles after turning in his fourth shut out of the season . . . The Leafs may not be the strongest club in the N. H. L. but they are tough to whitewash . . . The Bruins are now in a two way first place tie with the Rangers, with two games in hand on the Blue Shirts . . .

Leafs are pulling for Rangers to beat the Bruins in the first round of the play offs. They practically admit they are not in the same class with the Bruins, but they believe they have the Indian sign on Rangers. In the event they take the Bruins in the coming play off, the Rangers will take such a physical beating that they should be a push over for Toronto.

Eddie Powers' Goodyears, senior champions of Toronto, will play "Ace" Bailey's Toronto Varsity, winners of the International Intercollegiate League title, tonight at Maple Leaf Gardens. The Goodyears are expected to beat Varsity by five goals . . . Due to the storm, the advance sale for last night's game was sub-normal . . . But about 8 o'clock the Garden lobby was jammed to capacity and a check up showed that 13,286 fans had laid it on the line to witness the battle . . .

• • •

Things are coming to a pretty pass when two such peaceful players as Herbie Cain and Gordie Drillon start throwing punches . . . The Bruins are resting today but the squad will work out tomorrow noon . . . The squad is due to pull out for Toronto late tomorrow night . . .

• • •

Win Green, trainer de luxe, will not accompany the team to Toronto . . . He will be the guest on the Sports Writers' quiz and will not leave until Friday . . . It will be Win's final trip with the Rooms for the season . . . He will start South next Wednesday morning with the Red Sox . . . Hamie Moore and Walter Randall will take over when "Greenie" starts for the Sunshine State.

• • •

"Turi" Broda doesn't get any kick out of the Krauts beating him for four goals. The Krauts are from Kitchener, and their fellowtownsmen climb on the old soap box whenever Bauer, Dumart and Schmidt figure prominently in a Bruins victory over Toronto. Connie Smythe must have steamed around his office this morning when he read the account of the Krauts' feat. Connie still claims that Dumart and Bauer should be with the Maple Leafs and that Schmidt would have joined them but for the fact he received a bad report on Milt from a scout he sent to Kitchener . . . Incidentally, Smythe went to Montreal with the Leafs but refused to come here . . . He will join the club tomorrow night in Detroit.

Bibber Seeks To Down Angel At Arena

The Angel, heavyweight wrestling freak from France, won't do any flying at the Arena tonight, but he does promise to do sufficient grappling to subdue Bob (Bibber) McCoy of Cambridge, former Holy Cross star, in their finish match.

McCoy will match his flying tackle against The Angel's "bear hug" and he insists he will leave the ring a victor.

The Angel is an infant of some 267 pounds. He has a particularly large head which has caused him to become a study for Harvard professors. The doctors say The Angel's peculiarly shaped head is due to a glandular condition.

Since coming to the United States, The Angel has won all of his bouts. He has proved the biggest drawing card developed by Paul Bowser since the palmy days of Danno O'Mahony, and he is attracting capacity crowds wherever he appears.

ASK DAD, HE KNOWS!

Johnson-Wood Duel; Waddell's Speed

By HERB FINNEGAN

Before the war they used to say with all veracity that Washington was "First in War, First in Peace and Last in the American League." In group No. 7 of this old-time Sweet Caporal series are pictures of three of those old Senators—Conroy, McBride and Milan.

WALTER JOHNSON

Lewis, Hooper, Beat Him

Conroy doesn't come to mind readily but George McBride was a spectacular fielding shortstop, a six-footer, but no great shucks at the plate.

Clyde Milan was an A-1 ball player in all departments, particularly base stealing, which was a major art in those days. Ol' Clyde is still around, helping Bucky Harris make Washington fans forget that old slogan.

Others in group No. 7 are:

Tannehill, Washington, (Lee or Jess?); Bob Ungiaub, Washington, first baseman; Brown, Washington; Ganley, Washington; Geyer, St. Louis Americans; Powell, St. Louis Americans; Ferris, St. Louis Americans (Hobe Ferris, later home run hitting second baseman of Red Sox); Rube Waddell, St. Louis Americans (who hasn't heard of the Rube?); Lake, St. Louis Americans; Felty, St. Louis Americans (first Jewish player in the American League); Howell, St. Louis Americans; Lou Criger, later with Red Sox); Dode Criss, St. Louis Americans; Jones, St. Louis Americans; Bobby Wallace, St. Louis Americans (still rated by old timers the best fielding shortstop in history); Williams, St. Louis, (not Ken).

MEMORIES . . . Rube Waddell's penchant for fire engines and fishing on days when he was scheduled to pitch . . . Rube calling in outfielders, then retiring side on strikes . . . Connie Mack admits he was faster than Grove . . . Howell, pitcher for the Browns, who figured in that memorable bunting scene to Nap Lajoie, so that Lajoie could beat out Cobb for A. L. Batting championship. Howell slated to become an American League umpire but being given the old go-by after that session . . . Lou Criger, who with Bill Carrigan, caught Harris in famous 24 inning game with A's which latter won, 4-1. Harris and Jack Coombs going the distance . . . Longest game on A. L. records . . . Old Criger trick: standing idly at home plate as runner came tearing in from third . . . making believe outfielder had fumbled ball . . . Base runner jelling up . . . Criger grabbing ball and tagging out runner . . . Never see that play today . . . Criger later victim of the Great White Plague . . . Spending his final days in Arizona . . . Dode Criss, a great hitter but an Ike Boone in the outfield . . . Bobby Wallace, now scouting for Cincinnati.

Let's look at group No. 8.

Sweeney, New York Highlanders, a catcher; Kleinow, Highlanders; Jack Knight, Highlanders, later with the Red Sox; Wee Willie Keeler, (Hit 'em where they ain't Willie, who is rightly enshrined in baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown); Kid Elberfeld, Highlanders, as hard-boiled a little shortstop as ever lived; La Porte, Highlanders, second baseman; Engel, Highlanders (that's Clyde, who later played for Red ox and coached in Yale freshmen before his death); Ball, Highlanders (that's Neal, first man ever to make triple play unassisted); Birdie Cree, Highlanders, a great hitter; Hemphill, Highlanders; Demmitt, Highlanders; Johnson, Washington (there's Walter, sir; in fact there are two pictures of him); Gray, Washington; Groom, Washington; Street, Washington; Delahanty, Washington; Schaefer, Washington (traded from Detroit).

MEMORIES . . . Willie Keeler's uncanny place-hitting . . . Elberfeld's belligerent attitude, and only a little tyke, too . . . Engel hitting a fly ball that Snodgrass muffed in the 1912 World Series . . . Johnson's famous pitching duel with Joe Wood in 1912 with Smoky Joe winning, 1-0, on Duffy Lewis' double down right field foul line . . . Fenway Park jammed . . . Johnson's loyalty to Clark Griffith in Federal League days even though he was getting peanuts for winning 30 games a year . . . Johnson pitching his heart out for years and never getting in World Series until 1924 in twilight of career . . . Gabby Street catching the ball tossed from Washington Monument . . . What a stirring feat that was! Got as much publicity as Lindbergh's flight to Paris . . . Bob Groom pitching first game of Memorial Day double header against Red Sox. Harry Hooper hitting first ball pitched out of park for homer. Groom beating Joe Wood, 6-4 . . . Afternoon game, Johnson pitching . . . Same Hooper hitting first ball pitched for home run . . . Ray Collins blanking Senators and Sox winning, 1-0. Great pitching duels in those days . . . Germany Schaefer's clowning with Nick Altrock . . . A natural born comedian, beloved by everyone except Umpire Jack Sheridan . . .

Salem Post Stages Belt Tourney, Feb. 29

"Snowed out" last week, Post 23, American Legion, will launch its Diamond Belt amateur boxing tourney at the North Street Arena, Salem, next Thursday, Feb. 29, and most of the battlers listed for the original opening will be on the card. The classes will be 126, 135, 147, 160 and 175-pound.

Entries should be sent to Jack Murphy, 17 Arbutus Place, Lynn.

Not unlike some humans he meets in Boston Common, Happy Harry, the pooch maintains a plumpish waistline without work . . . and here he is crossing the Common, en route to the State House and his early morning handout.
